Caruso Is Dead
Yet All May Hear Him
Spirit, Force, Matter
His Welcome Above

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1921.

Copyright, 1921.

Caruso is dead. A little while ago that would have meant much to a few thousand that had seen and heard him, nothing to others. Now it means loss and sorrow to tens of millions that never saw Caruso, but heard his voice.

A while ago the millions would all have said, "He is dead, and I never heard him." Now they will say, "He is dead; I have heard him often, although I never saw him."

And in years to come a thousand will hear Caruso, dead, for everyone that heard him living. Such is the miracle of the talking machine.

We learn from Caruso that the body, as well as the spirit, is important. Many men have had a thousand times Caruso's musical genius, ten thousand times his intelligence, infinitely more emotion and sentiment than he. But without Caruso's BODY there could not be the song that has delighted millions and will delight other millions for years to come.

Three things count, SPIRIT, FORCE and MATTER. Spirit directs force and force acts on matter. The brain of Michael Angelo applied force to the hammer that cut out the marble, and that marble MATTER alone is left of Michael Angelo's genius.

It was Caruso's spirit, directing the force of his powerful body, acting upon his vocal cords, that produced songs that can now live forever. Without the strong body, the physical mechanism in the throat, no Caruso song.

Mothers that create the human bodies, and "eugenists" that deal with the problem of better-made human beings, are interested in Caruso.

Was there also, perhaps, intense interest and excitement in heaven yesterday as the famous singer arrived? We cannot imagine dead, level uniformity anywhere, least of all in heaven. Uniformity would make life horrible. There must be varying degrees of beauty in celestial as in earthly singing.

Was there interest above in Caruso's arrival? And how will it seem to him after living as a star to find himself one in a chorus of many billions? These are questions that may be asked most reverently. The power that delighted a few on this earth for a short time must surely be used to delight endless hosts through all eternity.

We learn also from Caruso, in too practical America, that mere UTILITY is not everything. There was absolutely nothing USEFUL from the cold materialistic view. He did not add anything to the wealth of the world. He dealt not in steel, beef, cotton or gold.

Yet his was the most important "business," that of making men happy. And if we could weigh spiritual values, and effects, we probably should find that by stimulating human minds, and feeding the spirit, Caruso did in his lifetime more to increase human energy, and thus to increase human wealth, than any one of the great industrial kings.

If, as we are bound to believe, human beings meet, know themselves and know each other in the future, what intense delight it will be for Verdi to hear his song about the woman as changeable as a feather in the wind sung by the greatest voice that ever sang it.

All the musicians will gather around. Beethoven with head bent and hands behind his back; Wagner, the powerful creator; Bach, according to Beethoven, king of them all, will crowd to meet the new spirit.

And when they ask him about the earth, how it is getting along, what of its degree of civilization, Caruso may answer, "Well, at any time, three or four thousand would pay from two to eight dollars a seat to hear me sing. And a hundred thousand would pay from five to a hundred dollars to see two men fight."

The spirits will say, "Caruso, you ought to be glad to get out of such a miserable planet. Please sing us something."

It is our loss, but their gain. And the loss is less because Caruso has left his genius and his voice to sing for us.

Sentiment and sound written in wax, and in steel to last forever. His voice will be heard 1,000 years after all our voices shall have been silenced forever. That is close to immortality.

WOOED AND WON IN 3 DAYS, SAYS GIRL IN $2,000,000 SEARLES LOVE SUIT

UNAWARE HE WAS HEIR TO WEALTH

Miss Johnson Says She Was Drawn to Searles by Common Interest in Art

By HAZEL CANNING.

Mary Johnson, who has just brought suit for $2,000,000 for alleged breach of promise, against Victor Albert Searles, millionaire artist, today told me the story of her broken romance.

Miss Johnson, artist, connoisseur of antiques, famous collector, well-known through all the eastern States, young woman of charm and poise and refinement, opened up her heart for the first time since she broke with Searles last May 14, and told how things are with a retiring woman, when at last she takes the dread step, and asks the courts of the land to mediate between her and the man she says has broken his promise to her.

"This suit gives me more sorrow than I can say," began Miss Johnson. "I always hated actions of such kind; I never imagined that I would be the principal in such a suit; but the laws of honor, faith and fair dealing between man and woman demand that such action be taken. Accordingly, in the modern spirit, with faith in my cause and justice on my side, I have launched the action which, I hope, twelve good men and true will decide in my favor, in the courts of Massachusetts.

PROPOSED AFTER THREE DAYS.

"I met Searles in Portsmouth, where I was conducting a tea room, and he loved me and proposed, after just three days. We were both interested in art. I saw in the quiet artist more than the ordinary observer would see.

"For I fell in love with Mr. Searles before ever he had a cent of money, since it was to the man himself, and not his millions, that I became engaged. I then, of course, thought he was a single man, as he led me to believe.

"Months followed, and one day he came to me. 'I've got to tell you something,' said he. 'I have kept it from you so far. The fact is, I am married. That does not change our engagement one whit. I am now suing for a divorce and as soon as I get it we will be married.'"

Miss Johnson smiled, woefully. "It was a dreadful shock to me," said she, "to find that he was married. But I loved him, and he was not living with his wife, and I forgave him his deceit and agreed to marry him, though he should have told me he was married before he asked me to become engaged to him. However, I forgave him. So would any woman who loved her man."

Then the little woman, with the golden hair and the quiet smile, spoke a bit of the foibles of the millionaire.

"You know," said she, "it was not for money that I became engaged to Mr. Searles. For when I knew him in Portsmouth he had no money. But he was always telling me of how, some day, he would get a great deal of money.

GAVE HER NO PRESENTS.

"'When my rich uncle dies,' he said, 'we'll have everything, Mary. And I'll do so much for you, you will forgive my not telling you I was married at the start. We'll travel, Mary. To Europe and everywhere. You will have more money than you ever

BLACKLIST ACQUITTED WHITE SOX

No Forgiveness, Declares Gleason and All His Players

Legal verdicts of "not guilty" do not serve to clear the seven Chicago White Sox players who participated in the 1919 World Series with Cincinnati—in the eyes of Manager William "Kid" Gleason of the Sox, of the men who were with them on the Chicago team in 1919 or with the new members of the club.

When the members of the White Sox club in Boston learned that a Cook county jury had found the players not guilty of conspiracy to throw the 1919 series, there was no rejoicing. Manager Gleason declared that the players and all organized baseball consider these men, "outside the pale," and that no court decision can "put them right."

NO FORGIVING BY BASEBALL.

According to Manager Gleason there is no tendency to forgive the erring players by the present members of the White Sox, or by any major league players or anyone connected with the game. They feel that the seven men did too much to put the game in ill repute to deserve forgiveness.

"The present White Sox players," said Gleason, "are well satisfied with the announcement by Commissioner Landis that, notwithstanding the finding of the jury, the seven players would not be allowed to return to organized baseball."

WAIT PUBLIC'S VERDICT.

Baseball men are interested in how the decision will effect the efforts of the former Sox to participate in exhibition games. They have meet with repeated snubs when they have attempted to obtain ground for games, but now that they are backed with a court decision, freeing them legally of any guilt, some believe that ground owners will hesitate to refuse them the use of their playing fields.

White Sox players here were surprised at the reception the men received when the jury announced its verdict. There was much cheering.

"Black Sox" Will Never Play Again, Says Landis

By International News Service.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The Black Sox, despite their acquittal of charges of conspiracy to throw the world's series to Cincinnati in 1919, will never play in organized baseball again.

Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, made this emphatically clear in a statement issued today. He declared that no players who associate themselves with a "bunch of crooked gamblers" are wanted in the national pastime.

"Regardless of the verdict of the jurors," Judge Landis said, "no player that 'throws' a ball game; no players that undertakes or promises to throw

SINN FEIN AND CRAIG CONFER

Report Irish Republicans and Unionists Are Negotiating Peace Terms

London, Aug. 3.—The Unionist government of Ulster has canvassed Premier Lloyd George's peace offer to the Sinn Fein and has forwarded its comment to Premier Lloyd George, said a Belfast dispatch to the Evening News today. Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, and other Ulster Unionists are due to arrive here within twenty-four hours.

By International News Service.

Dublin, Aug. 3.—It was learned on the best of authority today that the cause of the Sinn Fein's silence regarding the Irish peace negotiations is the fact that negotiations are proceeding between Eamon de Valera and Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster.

It was reported that De Valera had been sounding Sir James Craig since last Friday upon the reservations and guarantees which the Ulster Unionists desire.

Though De Valera and the Ulster Premier have not met in person, their negotiations are said to be proceeding by means of couriers.

The Irish people, not knowing the reason for the delay and the absence of official statement are becoming impatient, and pessimistic predictions have been made in some quarters.

The responsible leaders of the Sinn Fein refuse to discuss the possible outcome of the conversations between southern and northern Ireland, but it is understood that they have reached or are reaching a satisfactory basis.

O'Brien Denies Sinn Fein Is Negotiating With Craig

London, Aug. 3.—Art O'Brien, head of the Irish Self-Determinational League and so-called Sinn Fein ambassador in London, who returned from Dublin today, denied that the Sinn Fein was in communication with the Ulster unionists at Belfast.

"Peace matters are progressing satisfactorily at Dublin," said O'Brien.

Earlier in the day the London Times had printed the flat assertion that the Dublin Republicans were negotiating with the heads of the Unionist government of Ulster.

The parliamentary correspondent of the Times, in discussing the Irish peace situation, said:

"It is wrong to assume that nothing is happening in the Irish negotiations because no announcement has been made. There is every reason to believe that the Sinn Fein is in direct communication with Belfast and is trying to reach an understanding with the Northern Unionists. Obviously, this is a question of great difficulty, requiring delicate handling and much time."

Gaelic Tongue More Vital Than Freedom, Says De Valera

By International News Service.

Dublin, Aug. 3.—Preservation of the Gaelic language is even more important that political freedom to the Irish people, declared Eamon de Valera in an address to a conference of Gaelic speakers today.

"If the language is preserved we can never be conquered," said De aVlera. "If it is lost, our last safeguard of national freedom has disappeared.

CURTIS GLAD OWENS IS FREED FROM JAIL

"I am very much pleased to learn that former Police Officer Thomas F. Owens, sentenced to nine months in Charles Street Jail for contempt of court, has been freed. Medical examinations show his system to be infected with tuberculosis. Furthermore he bears an excellent war record, having been awarded two citations and a distinguished service cross while serving with the American forces abroad."

Such was the comment of Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis today.

Owens served a month of his sentence for attempting to influence Juror Frank Gould of No. 446 Massachusetts avenue in the case of Patrolman Bernard Steinhauser being tried at the time for murder in the second degree for the death of Louis Quitt.

EXPECTS RETURN OF WARM WAVE FRIDAY

Continued cool and generally fair weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow by Forecaster Smith, who states there is no real warm weather in sight before Friday or Saturday.

Heavy rains have fallen during the past twenty-four hours in the Ohio Valley and parts of the Atlantic coast section. The heaviest rainfall was 3.04 inches at Cincinnati.

The coolest place in the country today is San Francisco with a temperature of 50, while Key West is the hottest spot on the weather map with a temperature of 84. The humidity in Boston today was 73 per cent.

THREE ARE HELD IN DOORWAY ASSAULT

Two men are held at Station 5 as suspicious persons, while Elizabeth Smith, twenty-two years old, of Brookline street, South End, is charged with assaulting Hermon Matthewson with a knife.

The complainant alleges he was pulled into a doorway on Shawmut avenue near Blackstone Park last night, robbed of $56 and then stabbed in the thumb in the turmoil that ensued. The defendants are negroes.

NEGRO TAKEN FROM SHERIFF AND LYNCHED

Richmond, Va., Aug. 3.—The sheriff of Mecklenburg County was overpowered today while taking an unidentified negro to jail, charged with the murder of Postmaster W. T. Elmore, at Tobacco, Va., Monday night. The crowd lynched the negro and rode away without molesting anyone else.

NORWALK BARS JAZZ SHIMMY IN SCHOOLS

Norwalk, Ct., Aug. 3.—The Board of Education last night voted to prohibit jazz and shimmy dancing in the halls of local schoolhouses after September 6, when school reopens. There has been some complaint about such dancing and the board held a long discussion on the subject before passing the order.

Coakley in Rage at Tufts Trial

WATCH AND WARD IS ATTACKED

Attorney Pounds Fist on Witness Stand and Bitterly Assails Society

Daniel H. Coakley, witness for the defence today at the trial of District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts in Supreme Court for alleged malfeasance, created something of a sensation by a bitter attack upon the Watch and Ward Society and a rather slighting reference to Attorney-General Allen, Tufts' prosecutor.

Coakley said that the Watch and Ward organization had been "pursuing him like a pack of hounds."

He said that many of his papers, introduced as evidence in the Weston-Cabot-Holmes affair, were given to the Watch and Ward.

"There is nothing in my career that I am ashamed of," he said, with heat, "but I do object to telling my personal affairs to the Watch and Ward."

Coakley grew red in the face, became hoarse with rage and hammered the desk in his excitement.

It was his first real show of feeling during the Tufts trial but passed away quickly.

Coakley's indignation was called forth when Special Assistant Attorney-General Henry F. Hurlburt asked him for certain checks in the Stearns divorce case.

Coakley, after the spirited attack on the Watch and Ward Society, called the request "unfair."

Attorney-General Allen then asked for the information.

REFUSES ALLEN.

"Do you think I would give you what I wouldn't give Hurlburt?" asked Coakley, with a rather sardonic cast of countenance.

There was a slight, but audible, titter. The attorney-general looked discomfited.

Assistant District Attorney Herman A. Wagner of Middlesex and District Attorney Tufts were also witnesses for the defence.

Wagner assumed full responsibility for not pressing a larceny indictment against "Sir" Thomas Mozette, clairvoyant, trance medium and impostor de luxe.

The allegation that Tufts nol prossed this case from improper motives had been one of the principal

BOXER MURRAY IS KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Ernest Murray, 23-year-old overseas veteran and former 115-pound amateur boxing champion of New England, was electrocuted today while working on a pole at Beach Bluff avenue and Humphrey street, Beach Bluff.

The body of the young man, who was employed as a lineman by the Lynn Gas & Electric Company, became a flaming torch, and his left arm was burned off at the elbow.

According to the officials of the electric company, the power on the Beach Bluff avenue circuit was shut off. It is believed he touched a live wire coming from the Humphrey street circuit.

Murray, son of George F. Murray, of No. 37 Marianna street, Lynn, had been on the pole but a short time when a maid employed by Mrs. Blanche Wyman of Beach Bluff avenue, saw flames shooting from his body. She telephoned the police, and officers were rushed to the spot with a pulmotor.

Sift Revenue Office Leak on Income Tax Returns

Washington, Aug. 3.—A thorough investigation, and if necessary a "thorough housecleaning" will be made of the Bureau of Internal Revenue as a result of grave charges that much highly confidential information concerning tax reports and other matters has been getting into unauthorized hands, it was announced today by David H. Blair, the new commissioner of internal revenue.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN ALLSTON HOMICIDE

Julius Evans of Hartford, Ct., a mess attendant aboard the U.S.S. Galveston, appeared in the Brighton Court today, charged with the murder of Edward F. Connolly, counter man at Fitz's Lunch, Cambridge street, Allston. He waived examination and was held for the Grand Jury without bail.

COAKLEY ON STAND DENIES HIRING GIRLS TO TRAP CAPTAIN STEARNS

DECLARES TUFTS NEVER RECEIVED A PENNY IN CONNECTION WITH THE CASE

weapons in Attorney-General Allen's drive on him.

NOT CONSULTED.

Mozette was charged with stealing $11,155 from Mrs. Justine Gordon of Cambridge, and the Middlesex indictment was nol prossed about the time he was arrested in Akron, O., on a Suffolk County indictment.

Tufts corroborated Wagner's testimony that the latter was in full charge of the case. Tufts said he was not even consulted about nol prossing it.

He was closely cross-questioned by Hurlburt in an endeavor to show that he was behind the nol prossing and that he ordered it the very day Boston newspapers carried news that Mozette was under arrest in Akron.

Coakley told his story of the manner in which the former Helen W. Stearns secured a divorce from Captain Charles E. Stearns of Waltham.

He absolved Tufts of any connection with the case, said he did not talk it over with him, and never paid him a dime.

Coakley denied that the "Miss Pennington" found with Stearns in a Cambridge apartment was sent by him to captivate the captain, and maintained that she was the former Jennie Penn of Waltham, a life-long friend of Stearns.

He said his fee in the case was $5,000, out of which he paid $300 for the detectives who caught Stearns in a compromising situation.

Following this Stearns submitted to a divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment rather than stand trial on statutory grounds.

Coakley said that the $5,000 fee was "much less than he could have charged "Mrs. Stearns, as his original arrangement was for one-third of any settlement her husband made on her. That settlement was $40,000.

ATTACHED STEARNS' VAULT.

Attorney Coakley resumed his story of the Stearns divorce case as soon as court opened.

He said: "After I received the report of the detectives I drew an action for divorce on the grounds of infidelity. Mrs. Stearns signed it. I placed an attachment on Captain Stearns' safe deposit vaults. I discovered that he had left Waltham. I called up Attorney Fuller, his lawyer, and asked if I could serve on Captain Stearns at Fortress Monroe. He requested me not to serve the papers there, as Captain Stearns did not wish it.

"He promised to have Stearns come to Boston to be served. I then went to see Fuller and told him of the circumstances in which his client was found.

"He asked me if it was necessary to bring a divorce on statutory ground and whether it couldn't be gotten on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

"I told him I didn't think we had evidence enough. He said neither party could live with the other, and the daughter, Persis, was eighteen years old and old enough to know with which parent she wanted to live.

"We agreed that Captain Stearns' property was to be divided equally. One part was to remain with him and one part to go to Mrs. Stearns and Persis.

TALKED WITH PARKER.

"He said the property would total $85,000 or $90,000. I told him Mrs. Stearns was in serious financial straits and he said he would go down to Fortress Monroe and get some money for her. He later sent me a check which I forwarded to her at St. Paul.

"I then heard of a John Storer who was a mutual friend of husband and wife. I also had a talk with Herbert Parker, a former attorney-general, who was acting as associate counsel of Captain Stearns. I received a letter addressed to Storer from Herbert Parker. I have it here."

The letter was introduced in evidence. It consisted of three typewritten pages, in which Parker insisted on a searching inquiry into evidence of cruel and abusive treatment.

There were pencil notations by Storer on the side of the letter, explaining just what evidence there was for a suit based on cruel and abusive treatment.

CUT FEE TO $5,000.

Coakley continued his story:

"I drew an action for cruel and abusive treatment. The divorce was granted on those grounds. There was some dispute between Mrs. Stearns and Storer in regard to the alimony. Storer refused to loan Mrs. Stearns any money as he had previously done. I consequently loaned to Mrs. Stearns $1,000 on two $500 notes.

"I received $8,700 from Parker and I gave to Mrs. Stearns a check for $2,700, which was the balance due her after I deducted $5,000 for my own fee and $1,000 which I had loaned her.

"The fee was much less than I told her I would charge, which was one-third of the amount I secured. In this case that would have been about one-third of $40,000."

"I was impressed by her personality and her poverty. I could have charged her one-third of $40,000.

"Out of the $5,000 I paid the detectives' fee of $300."

Q.—Did you have at any time any dealings with Tufts or did you pay him a penny in this case? A.—I did not.

Q.—To your knowledge did Mr. Fuller or Herbert Parker or Storer or anybody else have any dealings with Tufts in connection with the Stearns case? A.—No.

PAPERS STOLEN.

Q.—I ask you if you employed any woman or women to go to Fortress Monroe in Virginia and live in a fashionable hotel and go around in automobiles and captivate Stearns? A.—No.

Q.—Did you send any detectives there? A.—I did not.

Hurlburt took the witness in cross-examination.

Q.—Have you any papers in the Stearns case? A.—Yes, this letter from Mr. Parker.

Q.—Any other paper? A.—The divorce action.

Q.—Any other? A.—Yes, Mrs. Stearns' receipt.

Q.—Did you have any other papers with you when you went to see Mrs. Stearns? A week before her deposition was taken in this case. A.—Only a newspaper.

Q.—Was there a folder in the Stearns case similar to the one you have here today? A.—Yes.

Q.—What became of it? A.—It went with those other papers from my office.

Q.—The papers that were stolen? A.—Yes.

AFTER WESTON TRIAL.

Q.—When did that disappear? A.—Shortly after the first trial of Weston and the others.

Q.—Were those Stearns papers stolen before the hearing before the Bar Association? A.—I don't know just when.

Q.—About when? A.—I can't tell.

Q.—Within six months of the Bar Association hearing? A.—No, within a year.

Q.—Were these papers mentioned at the Weston trial? A.—Yes, Weston testified that they had been stolen or that certain papers in the Stearns case had been stolen.

Q.—Just what papers were stolen? A.—All the papers in the folder.

Q.—Was the original paper on statutory grounds there? A.—I think so.

Q.—What other papers? A.—There was a letter from the present Mrs. Charles E. Stearns and a picture of her in that folder. These had been received by me shortly after the divorce was granted. They were sent to me by a Waltham minister. It was on one of these letters that Weston and Cabot were indicted. A photograph of the present Mrs. Stearns was offered in evidence at that trial. The letter was returned by Weston to Hayes (alleged tool in the looting of Coakley's office), who destroyed it rather than take the risk of putting it back in the file.

LETTERS IN SAFE.

Q.—Is there anything else about those papers that you wish you [illegible] A.—I am answering your question, Mr. Hurlburt. I don't wish to say anything.

Q.—Were there any other pictures among those papers? A.—No.

Q.—Were there any other papers in your office in connection with the case? A.—Yes, there were three or four letters from Storer and Parker, which I had in my safe.

Q.—Were those stolen? A.—No.

Q.—When you went down to see Mrs. Stearns at Long Island you carried papers? A.—Yes.

Q.—What were they? A.—The information filed by the attorney-general, a clipping concerning the Pennington-Shaw story, Mrs. Stearns' receipt and a motion to amend the original divorce action.

Q.—Wasn't that kept in your folder? A.—No, I found that in a drawer in my desk.

Q.—How did you happen to find that? A.—When I was hunting for the other Stearns papers, after they were stolen.

Q.—Did you tell Mrs. Stearns the papers had been stolen? A.—Yes.

DIDN'T KNOW ASSISTANT.

Q.—What did you say to her about them? A.—I did not particularize.

Q.—Did you tell her the letter had been stolen? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you tell her the statutory paper had been stolen? A.—No.

Q.—Was that paper stolen? A.—It may have been.

Q.—You said your detective was Horgan? A.—Yes, Matthew Horgan.

Q.—What agency was he connected with? A.—The Val O'Farrell Detective Agency at first. When I engaged him he was in business for himself.

Q.—Do you know the name of his assistant? A.—I don't.

Q.—Was it mentioned in the report? A.—Not that I recall.

Q.—Have you looked for the stolen paper? A.—Yes, after the first Cabot trial.

Q.—Did you talk with Detective Horgan after he submitted his report in the Stearns case? A.—Yes, several times.

Q.—Did he ever tell you who his assistant was? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever discuss the Stearns case with Horgan after he submitted the report? A.—No

Q.—He never told you who his assistant was? A.—No.

PAID HIM IN CASH.

Q.—Did his report give the name of the street in Cambridge or the number of the house where Stearns was found with a young woman? A.—Yes.

Q.—What became of that report? A.—It went with the other papers in the Stearns case.

Q.—Did you pay Horgan by check or in cash? A.—In cash.

Q.—Did you get a recipt? A.—I couldn't find any.

Q.—How did you happen to pay Horgan cash rather than by check? A.—I don't recall.

Q.—You usually paid by check, didn't you? A.—Yes. Sometimes I didn't.

Q.—Did Mrs. Stearns tell you that she had been to see Tufts before she called on you? A.—Not that I can remember.

Q.—Did she tell you that Mrs. Brown had accompanied her to Tufts' office? A.—I never heard the name of Mrs. Brown.

Q.—Did she mention the name of Mrs. Holmes? A.—Yes.

GAVE IT TO BABY.

Q.—Did you ever hear the name of Miss Pennington or Miss Shaw? A.—Never until this trial on the Allen charges.

Q.—What did you do with the $100 Liberty bond that she gave you? A.—I think I gave it to one of my babies.

Q.—Did you give her a receipt for it? A.—Who, a receipt for my baby.

Q.—No, Mrs. Stearns? A.—No.

Q.—Did you tell Fuller that the district attorney would have to be informed of the evidence in the Stearns case, and that Mrs. Stearns had demanded it, but that you had persuaded her to refrain? A.—No.

Q.—Did you say that you suspected a Waltham woman, but stumbled on another one with Stearns in Cambridge? A.—I said, and I say now, that we expected to find Miss Penn of Waltham. There is no conclusive evidence it was or was not Miss Penn.

Q.—Did you tell Parker that Mrs. Stearns ought to get a divorce on the grounds of infidelity? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you say that the army was less severe on a man who trod the primrose path than on a wife beater? A.—Yes.

WANTED TO REMARRY.

Q.—Did you know that Captain Stearns would lay himself open to criminal proceedings by a statutory offence if the divorce was granted on that ground? A.—I have never known in all my experience that criminal charges have been brought in such cases.

Q.—Why did Mrs. Stearns prefer the statutory ground for her divorce? A.—Because she wanted to be remarried in the Episcopal church, and she could not be unless her divorce was granted on those grounds.

Q.—Did you know that on June 14, 1918, Mrs. Stearns addressed a wifely letter to her husband from St. Paul? A.—No, or on any other date.

Q.—Did you ask her? A.—If I did not know of the letter I could not have asked her about it.

Q.—I now show you a letter which has been previously offered in evidence. Did you ever see this letter? A.—No.

This was a letter, postmarked June 14, 1918, in which Mrs. Stearns gave her husband an itemized account of various expenditures she had made, and told him she was afraid he would think her extravagant.

Q.—Did you see Mrs. Stearns in Long Island just before her deposition? A.—Yes.

DOESN'T FEAR DISCLOSURE.

Q.—Did you go down there to tell her what to say in her deposition? A.—No. I went there to ask her to come here to testify.

Q.—Did she show you a copy of an affidavit by Mrs. Brown? A.—Yes.

Q.—You knew that Fuller would contest a divorce on the grounds of infidelity? A.—Yes.

Q.—Yet you did not believe it? A.—No.

Q.—You acted as if you believed it by bringing a divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. A.—I always wanted the divorce on these grounds.

Q.—Have you check books for the years 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920? A.—Yes.

Q.—Will you produce them and leave them with the clerk of courts? A.—If the court directs. I do not wish to make public my private affairs for four years. I do not think you would want your private affairs displayed like that, Mr. Hurlburt. Aan, besides that you have a copy of my accounts in the Beacon Trust and the Old Colony Trust.

Q.—How do you know that? A.—My bankers told me.

Q.—Have you anything in your checks about which you fear disclosure? A.—I have nothing in my career about which I fear disclosure. I don't want to have my checks turned over to the Watch and Ward Society.

GIVEN TO WATCH AND WARD.

Q.—Why do you think they would be turned over to that society? A.—Everything I turned over to the Bar Association went to the Watch and Ward Society. For four years they have carried on a bitter, persecuting and lying attack on me. I told you at the Bar Association that I gave no money to Tufts. You said it was absolutely false. In my talk with you at our office you said you did not believe there was anything against Tufts.

Hurlburt—Did I not say that I had no evidence then, but that I would get it? A.—Yes. That is why I wanted a stenographic report of my conference with you in your office. I told you then that if I did not dot every "I" and cross every "t" at the Bar Association that you would make things look bad for me.

During these remarks Attorney Coakley pounded the desk in front of him with his fist, and his face grew red with anger.

Hurlburt—Did I tell you why I refused the stenographic reports? A.—Yes. You said O'Halloran had asked for one and that the Attorney-General had refused to allow it.

Attorney Ranney—I beg your Honors' judgment. Is all this relevant?

Chief Justice Rugg—The witness has made some aspersions. If Attorney Hurlburt wishes to clear himself he may continue the questions.

Q.—Did I have any further conversation with you? A.—Yes.

WANTED TUFTS REMOVED.

Q.—Did I tell you I believed Tufts not fit for office? A.—Yes.

Question—Did I tell you that he ought to be removed? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did I tell you I would see the Attorney-General about getting a stenographic copy for you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did I send you a letter enclosing what the Attorney-General had said? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was it a courteous note? A.—Yes.

Q.—When I called you to a consultation it was concerning a conversation between you and Tufts, when Abrahams was present? A.—Yes.

Q.—You did not give the consultation? A.—No. I had no assurances that you would give me a stenographic report.

Q.—Do you still decline to leave your checks, less they fall into the hands of the Watch and Ward Society? A.—Yes.

Attorney-General Allen—We will give further assurances that no agent of the Watch and Ward Society will be permitted to examine the checks.

Chief Justice Rugg—That does not order the witness to produce these checks.

TAKES HURLBURT'S WORD.

Attorney Hurlburt—Will you take my assurances that the checks will not fall into the hands of the Watch and Ward Society? A.—I will take your word alone, but not while you are in support of Attorney General Allen.

Attorney-General Allen—Will you bring in the checks for the period from June to December of 1917? This will cover the Mishawum case and the Munroe Case. A.—I have agreed with Mr. Hurlburt to bring in my checks in connection with the Munroe case, and I will bring in nothing else for you.

Q.—Will you bring in the checks for June and July 1917? A.—Yes, I will.

Q.—And for October and November 1917? A.—Yes, I will.

Q.—Did you ever make any inquiry about Lord and Tierney? A.—Of course not.

Q.—Didn't you know they were persons the Commonwealth claimed never existed? A.—I knew they were real men because I had seen them. I have seen Lord and Tierney and Crane. And I knew your question was asked for jury effect.

COAKLEY ANGRILY ASSAILS WATCH AND WARD SOCIETY

Attorney Daniel H. Coakley today at the Tufts trial attacked the Watch and Ward Society. He was questioned by Attorney Hurlburt as follows:

Q.—Have you check books for the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920? A.—Yes.

Q.—Will you produce them and leave them with the clerk of the court? A.—If the court directs. I do not wish to make public my private affairs for four years. I do not think you would want your private affairs displayed like that, Mr. Hurlburt. And, besides that, you have a copy of my account in the Beacon Trust and the Old Colony Trust.

Q.—How do you know that? A.—My bankers told me.

Q.—Have you anything in your checks about which you fear disclosure? A.—I have nothing in my career about which I fear disclosure. I don't want to have my checks turned over to the Watch and Ward Society.

Q.—Why do you think they would be turned over to that society? A.—Everything I turned over to the Bar Association went to the Watch and Ward Society. For four years they have carried on a bitter, persecuting and lying attack on me. I told you at the Bar Association that I gave no money to Tufts. You said it was absolutely false. In my talk with you at our office you said you did not believe there was anything against Tufts.

During these remarks Attorney Coakley pounded the desk in front of him with his fist, and his face grew red with anger.

Wagner and Tufts Tell of Mozette Case

The "Sir" Thomas Mozette case was again taken up at the Tufts trial today. Mozette was a former Cambridge trance medium. He was arrested in Akron, O., as a fugitive from justice, in connection with an alleged larceny in Suffolk County.

Attorney-General Allen charges that Mozette took $11,000 from Mrs. Justine Gordon of Cambridge and that Tufts failed to prosecute. Mozette was arrested in February, 1920, as a result of information furnished the Boston police by Captain Hurley of the Cambridge police.

Allen says Tufts aided Mopette to evade justice by enabling him to get bail in a small amount. Mozette "jumjed" the bail, and is again a fugitive.

Evidence offered last week showed that a Boston inspector went out to extradite Mozette and found Attorney Harry E. Levenson at Columbus ahead of him. Levenson showed a telegram showing that the major case against Mozette, the Gordon case, had been nol prossed in Cambridge.

The claim is that the nol prossing was "railroaded" to help the trance medium and clairvoyant.

SUFFOLK COUNTY COMPLAINT.

Louis K. McNally, from the office of the Secretary of State, was the first witness in this case. He produced books concerning the extradition records and Attorney Fletcher Ranney for the defence showed that Mozette was arrested on a Suffolk county complaint and that the arrest had nothing to do with the Middlesex county complaint.

Assistant District Attorney Herman A. Wagner was called to the stand and testified that Tufts put him in charge of the Mozette case and that he nol prossed the indictment on February 26, 1920.

Q.—Did you have an interview with Harry E. Levenson, counsel for Mozette, in Cambridge? A.—Yes. He came into my office and said: "What do you know about the Mozette indictment?" I made n oreply. He said: "I understand the indictment is no good." I said: "Why not?" He said: "Because Neilan and Gordon were in the Grand Jury room." I asked him where he got his information. He made no reply. Simply smiled.

Q.—Did he mean Inspector Neilan? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he say anything about a change of testimony on the part of Mrs. Gordon? A.—I don't recall. I told him I would find out about it. I spoke to Tufts. I told him what Levenson had said and asked if it was true. Tufts said it was true. He said that Mrs. Gordon had made changes in her testimony. She made changes about a note. It appears that Gordon and Neilan were in the Grand Jury room together. Tufts told me to use my own judgment.

SAW SEVENSON.

Q.—Did you see Levenson again before you nol prossed the indictment? A.—I am not clear on that.

Q.—Did you ever say to Levenson thot if the indictment were not good you would nol pros it? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you nol pros that indictment before or after Mozette's arrest in Ohio? A.—Before.

Who told you Mozette had been arrested A.—Captain Hurley. He telephoned. I told him to come down to see me as I wanted to talk the case over with him.

Q.—Did he come? A.—HE did not.

Q.—Did he ever insist on substantial bail? A.—No.

Q.—Was that arrest made on a Suffolk County indictment? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did the arrest have anything to do with the Middlesex County or authorities? A.—No.

Q.—Why did you nol pros the Mozette indictment? A.—Because Captain Gordon and Inspector Neilan were in the Grand Jury room at the same time and because Mrs. Gordon had changed her testifony.

Q.—In your belief these matters rendered the indictment invalid? A.—Yes.

IN GRAND JURY ROOM.

In cross-examination, Hurlburt offered the Mozette indictment in Middlesex County in evidence. It charged Mozette with the larceny of $11,155 from Mrs. Justine Gordon. On this indictment were notations made by Wagner, dated February 25, 1920. "Will not further prosecute" read the notations.

They further stated that this was because Neilan and Gordon were in the Grand Jury room together and because of a conflict in the testimony.

Wagner admitted that Mozette was never arraigned in the Middlesex County indictment. He denied that Tufts had full charge of the case. He never learned from Levenson, he said, how the latter learned what transpired in the Grand Jury room.

Allen asked Wagner if it were not true that he and Tufts and William J. Corcoran were classmates at Boston University Law School. He said it was. Tufts had testified Corcoran was in another class.

HURLEY THREATENED.

Tufts was recalled to the stand.

Q.—Will you tell what you know in the Mozette case? A.—Some time in the Spring of 1917 Captain Hurley of the Cambridge police came in and said a great injustice had been done; that a Mrs. Gordon had lost a lot of money. She gave it to Mozette some time in 1916, he said. I wanted to know why no action had been taken then. (That was before Tufts took office.) He said it had been presented to the Grand Jury then, but no bill had been found, probably because the woman produced a note and the jury considered it a civil matters. He wanted to re-present it to the Grand Jury.

Q.—Did Captain Hurlye tell you he had been threatened at the Grand Jury hearing the first time? A.—I think he did.

Q.—What else did you do with the matter? A.—Some time later Captain Gordon came in. Later Mrs. Gordon came in. The matter was presented to the Grand Jury. I do not remember who presented it. But I was present. She testified that no note had been given. An indictment was returned.

Q.—What happened to Mozette? A.—Captain Hurley told me he didn't know where Mozette was.

Q.—Was he ever arrested? A.—Not by us.

OFFERED RESTITUTION.

Q.—Do you recall the conversation between you and Mrs. Gordon concerning restitution? A.—Yes.

Q.—On what did you base your hope of restitution? A.—An attorney in Boston by the name of Patron called me up and said he was intertsed in the case. Mozette, he said, was desirous of making reparation. He wanted my permission. I asked him where Mozette was and he said he was not at liberty to say. As a result I sent for Captain Hurley. I asked him the chances of getting Mozette. I asked him if he had any objection to restitution. He said not at all. Nothing came of that, however.

Q.—Did Mr. Gordon come around frequently? A.—Yes, frequently. He said he was out of work.

POST HOSTESS IS BRIDE OF SERGEANT

Army Romance Culminates in Marriage of Red Cross Worker

The culmination of an army romance came to light today in the announcement that Miss Edith Carolyn Fagan, hostess at Fort Constitution, Portsmouth, N. H., had been married to Sergeant Chester Stiles at that post. Mrs. Stiles before coming to the post was a Red Cross worker at Halifax and at Portland. She had resigned as hostess.

GIRL TELLS OF LOVE FOR SEARLES

dreamed there was in the world, to collect antiques with. You've got wonderful taste, Mary. The only trouble is that you never had enough money to show the world the taste you possess. I'll make that all right, Mary—when I come into my money.'

"So," Miss Johnson continued, faintly smiling, "so Victor would talk to me. Now I ask any woman if the man she loved talked to her like that wouldn't she believe him? And I never minded that he never gave me any presents. My dear, it is some time now since the courts decided that he was heir. Yet, in all that time, this millionaire has never given the woman he was engaged to one present.

"He would meet me; he would say, 'I'm awfully sorry, Mary, that I cannot give you anything. But I owe so many bills and I have not got any money yet except what my lawyers rake up for me, and that I owe. But wait—just wait——'"

TIRED OF WAITING.

Again the reminiscent smile. Then the comment: "I have got tired of waiting. So I brought this suit."

Another pause. The explanation followed.

"Since the day before Christmas of this year, when he told me he could not give me a present, because he had no money, I have heard rumors that another woman figured in the suit. I have heard that this woman has a car and a chauffeur and a new fur coat and all the accessories of wealth. I spoke of these rumors to Mr. Searles. 'All bosh,' he replied.

"But I would like to say this. Mr. Searles had promised to set me up in an antique business, or some sort of little shop in Rockport. He promised me the 14th of last May that he would come down to Rockport the next week, and we would go over the ground together. We knew we could not be married for two years—when his divorce becomes absolute—and I was most desirous to make my own way till then. And his setting me up in a little business was, as he said to me, only what a rich man might be expected to do for his fiancee.

"Well, May 14, I saw him in Boston. He brought me to the train in his car. He said goodby most fondly. He promised to see me in a day or two. He never came. He never sent word. He never wrote. My letters he referred to his lawyer, Mr. Whipple. So I brougnt suit.

HONORABLE ENGAGEMENT.

"And, I most firmly believe it was the only dignified thing I could do, much as I hate all this newspaper publicity. But there was an honorable, dignified, self-respecting engagement between us. When a man, all at once, completely drops his fiancee, and refuses to see her, and dodges, and won't explain, it is time that the courts stepped in. For there are some things a man does to low women, which, by the usage of good society, he does not do to respectable women.

"I have thought, always, that after Mr. Searles' infatuation for a woman, with whom he is said to be madly in love, was over, he would come back to me. For rumor tells me that this woman is most notorious, that she was 'run out' of Providence, that she is past honor and past the decent affection which is between nice men and nice women. In the old days, the good woman would 'wait for her fiance to come back; and take him when he came.

"But these are the new days. I cannot believe that it is right for me to condone his doings. So I have brought suit, with firm belief in the justice of my cause. And believeing in that justice, I await the day, in open court, when a jury of my peers shall judge between Victor Searles and myself."

WAR ROMANCE OF FRANCES STUART, FILM BEAUTY, SHATTERED

SUED FOR DIVORCE BY HUB MAN

Edward Rose of Newton, wealthy Boston business man named as co-respondent by Joseph A. Murphy of this city, in his divorce suit against Frances Stuart, film star, has left town it was learned today.

Rose, who is in the cotton and woolen waste business at No. 200 Summer street, and has a beautiful estate at No. 286 Commonwealth avenue, in the Chestnut Hill section of Newton, could not be located.

He is thirty-two years old and while living in Brookline in 1917 claimed exemption from the draft on the ground that his wife and parents were dependent on him.

At this time, before he had met the beautiful screen star, who appeared in support of Enrico Caruso in "My Cousin," he had not acquired the fortune which he is now said to possess. On his papers Rose gave his salary at $5,000, said he owned merchandise worth $40,000, an automobile that cost $3,000, household furniture worth about $1,500 and was insured for $2,000. His wife, he said, had jewelry worth about $1,000.

COMPELLED TO SERVE.

Rose declared his business earned $12,000 in profits for the year ending in December, 1916, but that his dependents would become public charges if he were drafted. His claim was denied by the Brookline draft board and at subsequent hearings before higher tribunals the original ruling was sustained.

Rose was inducted into service at Camp Devens and sent to France. He is head of the firm of Edward Rose Company, and is said to have made most of his money in the last four years.

The divorce suit, filed in the Suffolk Superior Court, marks the dissolution of a war romance that culminated in the marriage of the couple in November, 1918, after Murphy had been discharged from the service.

Mrs. Murphy, who lived with her husband at No. 133 Chiswick road, Brighton, appeared with the famous tenor, who died yesterday, in the only film drama in which he was photographed.

SOON BECAME A STAR.

Under her maiden name she had begun work in the motion pictures five years ago, going to New York from her home in Eldorado, Ia. Her striking beauty soon won Miss Stuart elevation to stardom, and she appeared in features by Paramount and other producers.

Murphy met Miss Stuart, who is now twenty-four years of age, during a business trip to New York in 1917. They had barely become acquainted when this country entered the war, and the young man promptly enlisted in the air service. He won promotion, and was recommended for a commission and flying duty. It was discovered that Murphy suffered from a weak heart, however, and he was discharged three months before the armistice.

In the meantime his acquaintance with the film actress had ripened into love, and in November of 1918 they were married by a justice of the peace.

GAVE UP THE MOVIES.

The couple made their home in Boston, and Mrs. Murphy devoted herself to her new career of housekeeper, having abandoned the "movies."

Some time later Mrs. Murphy met the Boston business man, now named as corespondent.

Mrs. Murphy's present address is said to be Eldora, Iowa, while her husband lives at No. 1295 Commonwealth avenue. He charges that his wife was unfaithful on April 1, 1920 and on various other occasions. Murphy is represented by Joseph Santosuosso. The order of notice is returnable the first Monday in September.

WILL DECIDE RIVALRY WITH SHOTGUNS

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Mayor Sullivan has challenged Superintendent of Public Buildings Halcott to meet him armed with shotguns at any time.

The Mayor and the superintendent have been at swords points over the selection of an architect for Worcester's new junior high school, but nobody supposed that the Mayor would challenge Halcott.

They don't intend to shoot at each other, but at clay pigeons on the municipal rifle range at Shrewsbury.

WORCESTER MAYOR TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Mayor Sullivan announces that he will take no vacation this year, but will put in the two weeks he generally gave to vacationing to work on the unemployment problem. He hopes to find work for a number of the unemployed of the city, at Pine Hill dam, the new city reservoir and at the new sewage disposal plant.

EX-MAYOR HOBBS OF CONCORD, N. H., DEAD

Concord, N. H., Aug. 3.—Nathaniel W. Hobbs, former mayor of Concord, is dead today as a result of failing health that first affected him a year ago while on a train en route to the East from California. Prior to his two-year term as mayor, he served on the Board of Aldermen. He was forty-seven years old, and had been practicing law here for twenty-five years.

ORGANIZE, CURLEY BIDS SERVICE MEN

Better co-operation among ex-service men, with a perfecting of their various organizations, was urged by former Mayor Curley, speaking last night to Dorchester Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Park street, Dorchester. Curley advocated a soldiers' bonus, and declared business houses should give steady positions to veterans who are out of work.

LINE SHIFTS TO RECEIVING CAGE AS RUN ENDS

Police Ask Information to Run Down Plotters Against Bank

The run on the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, which started last Friday, came to an end definitely today within fifteen minutes after the bank opened for business.

For half an hour before the doors swung back, a small crowd, numbering less than 100, was gathered on the pavement outside waiting. As soon as the doors opened these people pushed into the paying tellers' windows and withdrew their money.

LINE SHIFTS TO RECEIVING.

With the last of them paid, the bank settled down to normal business, and President Wilmot R. Evans predicted that "the line will be shifted to the receiving tellers' windows before the day is over."

In all, the bank has paid out approximately $2,000,000 since the run began, and has taken in $100,000 in deposits. At the close of business last night it had a cash balance on hand of more than $3,000,000.

Although he admitted that the special investigators and the police are still searching for the men responsible for starting the rumors that set in motion the run on the bank, President Evans declined to say whether any arrests are expected today.

POLICE SEEK INFORMATION.

Capt. Ainsley C. Armstrong, head of the Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation, today made public an appeal to "any one who may have been influenced by any malicious statement regarding the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank to draw his or her funds from that bank" to report the matter to the police at once.

Captain Armstrong is in charge of the investigation the police are conducting into the causes of the run on the bank. He said that if the originators of the rumors that started the trouble can be found, they will be prosecuted under Chapter 266 of the General Laws providing for a fine of $5,000, or a ten-year prison term, or both, for the offense.

WORCESTER TAX RATE FOR YEAR TO BE $26.80

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Worcester's tax rate for this year will be $26.80, it is officially announced. This is an increase of 20 cents over last year. The total to be raised for city expenses is $5,963,210.33; for the State, $654,287.14, and for the county, $312,210.

WORCESTER CHURCHES TO CONDUCT MOVIES

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Worcester churches are planning to hold Sunday movies in the local parks as a means of bringing to the people wholesome lessons in citizenship, morals and education. The Church Federation is taking the matter under advisement.

CANCELS MARDI GRAS OF EAST IN LYNN

American Legion Post Abandons Carnival When Mayor Opposes Candy Wheels

"The Mardi Gras of the East," a pretentious carnival to have been held by Post No. 6 of the American Legion in Lynn next week, has been called off because of the refusal of Mayor Walter H. Creamer to permit the operation of candy wheels and similar devices.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Commander Harlan A. McPhetres of the Lynn post, and as a result much feeling is being manifested by local service men against the Mayor.

The lie was said to have been passed at a legion meeting at headquarters on Market street, when Mayor Creamer denied he had any knowledge of candy wheels having been used at church festivals and other entertainments recently.

The Mardi Gras, which had received the endorsement of all Lynn labor organizations, was to have been launched next Monday.

A midway and other entertainment had been planned, and according to Commander McPhetres the Legion post had spent nearly $7,000 in advertising and contract making with concessionaries.

The Chamber of Commerce of Lynn refused to endorse the project, but individual merchants had agreed to decorate and maintain booths in the downtown section.

Elaborate plans had been made, including the installation of candy wheels and other devices, which, according to Commander McPhetres, have been used by churches, fraternal and social organizations in festivals during the past two months.

Then the ultimatum of Mayor Creamer was delivered, with the resultant abandonment of the entire plan, which it was said had reacted to the advantage of the city of Lynn.

During a conference with Legion men, Mayor Creamer is alleged to have said they should have taken the advice of a prominent business man with a German name. To which one of the members of the Legion is said to have replied, "That will do for that. A fellow with a name like that put a bullet through my brother in Flanders."

ANNE R. GUSTIN OF NEWTON DIES ABROAD

Miss Anne Romer Gustin of Newton, a graduate of the Boston School of Physical Education, is dead in Edinburgh, Scotland, of pneumonia, according to a cable received by her mother, Mrs. Clinton H. Scovelle, of No. 289 Park street, Newton. Miss Gustin, who was abroad two months, served during the war as reconstruction aid at Fort Des Moines. She was engaged to marry Edwin Noyes of Duxbury, a Dartmouth graduate.

$10,000,000 IS LEFT BY CARUSO

Tenor Died in Intense Pain, Deathbed Report Reveals

By C. F. BERTELLI

Universal Service Staff Correspondent

Paris, Aug. 3.—(By Telephone from Naples)—Enrico Caruso's will, which was made in America in 1919, has been opened here. It is reported that it leaves all his property to relatives. The estate amounts to approximately $10,000,000.

A requiem mass for the repose of Caruso's soul was conducted this morning in the Cathedral. The edifice was filled with friends of the dead singer, who wept at intervals during the service.

Details of the deathbed scene are dramatic. Caruso's wife, his brother, two doctors and some intimate friends, including the artist, De Luca, spent the entire night at the bedside.

SUFFERING WAS INTENSE.

Caruso suffered terribly and his relatives were unable to watch his suffering.

When he arrived at Naples from America the singer told his friends that he felt fine. He went to Sorrento, where he took long walks and excursions to Capri. He gave several parties at which he made speeches in which he always said that he was sure that he would get well.

His relapse is attributed to his defiance of the orders of his doctors regarding diet, Caruso insisting on eating in Neapolitan fashion.

It is known that Caruso suffered for several days without mentioning his illness to his family. He was finally forced to return to Naples where he took a short cure, again becoming better, and at which the doctors believed that his cure was certain.

On the occasion of the celebration of the feast of Saint Enrico, he returned to Sorrento and sung his favorite songs for friends for the first time following his arrival in Italy. It is believed that he overtaxed his strength.

His last song, entitled "Swan Song," was sung several days ago when he confided to his intimate friend, Arnchison, that he was feeling badly. He refused to go to bed at the latter's pleading. The family, however, summoned the famous Rome physician, Bastianelli, who immediately ordered him transported to Rome to be operated upon in his clinic. The date for the removal of the tenor to Rome for the operation was fixed, but in passing through Naples the illness took a severe turn when it became evident that to continue the journey was impossible, so he went to a hotel.

DIED BEFORE OPERATION.

The fatal attack began Monday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. During the night Dr. Bastianelli decided to operate in Naples, but Caruso sunk so rapidly that he died before the surgeons arrived who had been summoned.

The body remains in the hotel room, which has been converted into a mortuary chapel. The bed in the middle of the room is surrounded by four candles and smothered with flowers. The expression on the face of the dead singer is one of great serenity, without a trace of the martyrdom of pain through which he passed in his last months.

In the middle of the night Caruso received his son, brother to "Mimi," who is in the United States, and to the boy he said:

"My son, this time it is truly finished, I go."

The funeral is scheduled to be held in the Church of St. Ferdinand. It will be attended by the biggest personalities among diplomats, musicians and artists of Europe, who are hurrying to Naples on every train.

MESSAGES FROM ROYALTY.

Messages of sympathy have been received from the King and Queen of Italy, the King and Queen of England and President Millerand of France.

Naples is draped in black and the population, who adored the singer, have surrounded the hotel where they are chanting psalms.

The sculptor Cifarelle has made a death mask at the order of Mrs. Caruso, who will have it sent to America.

It has been learned that Caruso recently went upon a pilgrimage to the shrine of the Madonna at Pompeii, where he donated 2,000 lire as a thanksgiving offering for his recovery from illness.

It was not until after his death that specialists who had been attending him announced that kidney disease was really the cause of death.

French Press Pays Tribute to Caruso

Paris, Aug. 3.—The French press today paid high tribute to the memory of Enrico Caruso.

"Caruso is dead, but thank God his voice remains imprisoned forever in wax," said the Echo de Paris.

"The power of Caruso's voice was without limit which made up for any technical inefficiency," declared the Journal.

"Since the death of Tamagno, Caruso has been the world's foremost operatic figure," was the coment of L'Oeuvre.

WILL TAKE FIGHT OVER DOGS TO HIGH COURT

Mrs. Baxter to Carry on Battle to Save Her Four Pomeranians

Four little dogs, Toto, Rival, Toodles and Hester Prim, go about very sadly these days.

The four little dogs live at No. 115 Waban Hill road, Newton, where the grass is green and the hill is soft and sloping, and it is fun for little dogs to play about.

But they don't play about any more, for their mistress, Mrs. Alexander Baxter, says no.

"What a weary world!" the little dogs tell each other, "oh, dear, why can't we run and play?"

And Mrs. Baxter shakes her head at the little dogs and she says, says she, "You have made your debut in court, doggies! You are frowned upon by people who don't care for your little towsled fur nor your kind ways, your inviting, small airs of sociability. Little dogs, you think the world is your friend—but your mistress knows different. So you will have to stay close, poor dears!"

APPEALED FROM FINE.

For these are the dogs, cute little English toy spaniels, Toto, Toodles, Rival and Hester Prim, who appeared as defendants in Newton Court, when their mistress answered a summons brought by her neighbors, charging her with keeping "barking, biting and howling dogs."

That charge was heard Tuesday, when Mrs. Baxter was fined ten dollars and appealed.

Very much distraught, Mrs. Baxter, seated in her pleasant window, with her four little friends nestling at her skirts, on the floor, told of the suit.

"It grieves me very much that the neighbors have seen fit to send this summons to me," said she, "because, you know, I could never take the law of anyone, even were they guilty of such an offence.

"When dogs were, on the other hand, mild and kind and eager for a little friendly attention, as mine are, such action would be still more impossible to me."

"You see, these dogs mean quite a lot to me. All through the war they were known, at all the important dog fairs in New England, as the 'dogs who did their bit.' I exhibited them everywhere, and they took a whole shoe box full of medals—not to mention silver cups.

AIDED WAR DRIVES.

"Those little dogs have earned more dollars for the Red Cross, the Women's Hospital, the Fund for French Tuberculosis Victims, for all good charities, especially war charities, than many well-to-do families have given. And I, in sickness and in health, have taken my dogs about, that they might, in their way, help on worthy causes, as we all should wish to do.

"These little friends of mine have done their share. And, having done it, they mean more to me than many surly, unimaginative, churlish, dog-hating persons."

BLUE RIBBONS GALORE.

Mrs. Baxter and the visitor stroked the ears of the "barking, biting, howling dogs."

Those dogs neither barked, nor bit nor howled, though two of them rubbed against the visitor's skirts, and then gave out huge grunts of comfortable, canine satisfaction.

And then Mrs. Baxter showed the little dog's prizes. Blue ribbons galore were in that great big white box—ribbons as many as six dozen. And the silver cups, on the shelves!

"They are not barking, biting, howling dogs," finished their friend and mistress, Mrs. Baxter. "And that is why I will fight for them, through, to the last court in the land."

LAWYERS INTERESTED IN WORCESTER "DEAL"

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Max Cohen, a Worcester butcher, has started suit for $250 he claims Anton Nomanarovitz, a Brimfield farmer, owes him. He bases the suit on a contract made in a "cow deal."

A copy of the contract attached to his petition has been read and re-read by hundreds of lawyers who frequent the courthouse. It reads: "I the undersiner promis to pay to Max Cohen $250 (two hundred and fifty dollars) for cows and I Hav no rhit to sel His cows til I pay in fool and if I don't pay Cohen has the rite to taik his cows back agan form annie place."

TITLED ENGLISH DANCER FIGURES IN NEW ROMANCE

LADY CONSTANCE RICHARDSON

Noted exponent of terpischorean art, who startled England by her classic costumes, to wed rich bachelor at an early date, London hears.

LADY CONSTANCE RICHARDSON TO WED

Famous Classical Dancer to Be Bride of Rich English Bachelor

London, Aug. 3.—Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson is to become the bride of Dennis Luckie Matthews, a rich bachelor, within a few days, according to an announcement printed in the Daily Mail today.

Lady Constance is the daughter of the late Earl of Cromartie and kin of many of the noble houses of Great Britain and Scotland.

Some years ago she startled the British social world by appearing in Greek and other classic dances in costumes that were to say the least decidedly scanty.

Later she went to New York, where society first took her up and then dropped her as suddenly when she appeared in public in a series of startling dances.

On her return to England she appeared as Salome, and made such a hit that Broadway managers induced her to change her mind and appear in a strictly professional tour throughout the States.

While in New York that time she appeared in Judith, a drama, specially written for her and based upon the Bible story.

Lady Constance has three times won the woman's swimming championship of England, rides to hounds, hunts big game and plays polo with men.

Her first husband, Sir Edward Stewart-Richardson, fifteenth baronet of the name, was killed during the war. He left four sons, all of whom are being brought up by their mother along lines of her own.

SUBMIT FINAL PLEAS IN SPOT POND SUIT

Final arguments of the State were made by counsel today before a special commission on the suit of the town of Stoneham against the Commonwealth to recover $1,500,000 for the loss of Spot Pond in the Middlesex Fells, which the State has taken.

WIFE ACCUSES ENGLISH HIGH TEACHER

Charges Sub-Master Brack Blackened Eyes, Scratched Nose

Jacob Albert Brack of Quincy, a sub-master in the English High School of Boston, was ordered by Judge Keating of the Superior Court to pay his wife, Mrs. Emmy A. Brack, the sum of $30 to enable her to prosecute her suit for divorce brought for alleged cruel and abusive treatment.

The Bracks were married at Boston, June 27, 1906, and have lived in Boston, Newtonville and Quincy. They have four sons whose custody Mrs. Brack seeks. The alleged cruel and abusive treatment Mrs. Brack says began in 1914 and has continued up to the time of filing the suit.

Brack, according to his counsel, gave his wife $200 June 30, and said she was living in a house at Quincy purchased by her husband. It was stated to the court that the pending suit is the third Mrs. Brack has brought, and counsel declared that there was no ground upon which it could be maintained.

The court also was told that Brack, his wife and the children were all living together in the same house. During the vacation period Brack works for the Watch and Ward Society and does tutoring.

Mrs. Brack's counsel said that Brack had blackened his wife's eyes, bruised her mouth and scratched her nose. She owned the house in which they lived, and had ordered him to leave. To keep him out she had been obliged to nail down the windows. Within a week Mrs. Brack said she would furnish specifications asked for by her husband.

NEW HAMPSHIRE IS PLAYGROUND FOR HARDING

Recreation Sole Aim of Visit to Weeks' White Mountain Home, President Says

Lancaster, N. H., Aug. 3.—Every American needs play, even the President, the chief executive of the nation told an informal gathering of the citizens of Whitefield who greeted him as he was motoring into the estate of Secretary of War Weeks, which is his White Mountain playground.

The President explained that he had come to New Hampshire for the sole purpose of playing and while he said that America had many serious problems she can solve them better if a little play is mixed with much work.

The President indicated, however, that he is not able to centre his mind entirely on play, for he referred briefly to the forthcoming disarmament conference and said that he feels that he can almost promise that out of this conference will come a means of ending war.

Mount Prospect, the temporary Summer White House, is built at the top of one of the smaller mountains surveying the Franconia and Presidential ranges of the White Mountains, four miles from the public thoroughfare and the same distance from a telephone.

The President does not wish to lay down a hard and fast program for each day that would be too much like White House routine. He will rest, play golf or motor, as the spirit moves him, but he expects to play golf sometime during the day over the Mountainview course at Whitefield.

Mrs. Harding is resting at the mountain estate and under advice of her physician will remain most of the time at the lodge enjoying the cool, clear weather and the relaxation from the White House duties.

In the absence of Mrs. Weeks, who is in Europe, Mrs. John W. Davidge, daughter of Secretary Weeks, is acting as hostess to the presidential party which includes Senator and Mrs. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; Senator Phipps of Colorado; Senator Hale of Maine; Secretary Christian and some friends of Secretary Weeks.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE SET FOR NOV. 11

International Session Proposals Sent to Foreign Powers

Washington, Aug. 3.—The United States has officially proposed November 11 as the date on which to assemble the international disarmament and Far East conference in Washington, it was announced today.

The proposal has been put forward informally through diplomatic quarters. Thus far there have been no responses.

The November 11 date was suggested first by President Harding in talking with newspaper correspondents. The suggestion was in the nature of a "trial balloon," the President and his advisers desiring to see what reaction there would be from abroad as to the date. After observing the effect of the suggestion, the State Department decided to put the date informally before the powers concerned and this was done some days ago.

GERMANY ASKS FAIR PLAY ON SILESIA

Relying on U. S. and Britain for Square Deal, Chancellor Declares

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Germany is appealing to both the United States and Great Britain for fair play in the Upper Silesian decision, it was revealed today, following Chancellor Wirth's speech before the Bremen Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon.

The speech had been awaited with great eagerness because it had been expected that the chancellor would pledge the resignation of his cabinet unless Germany got a satisfactory decision regarding her claims in Upper Silesia.

The chancellor made no mention of resignation. He declared Germany was hopeful that America and Great Britain would answer her appeal for a square deal at the hands of France and Poland.

"This is not a speech of submission but of encouragement to Germany," he said. "Only through labor can we achieve liberty. The policy of might failed in Upper Silesia, which was a fertile, productive land when given by us to the allies. Now it is in ruins.

"The allies' policy during the past three years has not been based on justice, but upon threats. We welcome America and England coming as the advocates of justice.

"Political passion and boundless conceit rules at Warsaw, preventing peace in Europe. The supreme council does not dare to disappoint Germany. I trust that European solidarity will be based upon mutual desire for freedom and for democracy."

TWO U. S. FREIGHTERS ARE DUE AT HALIFAX

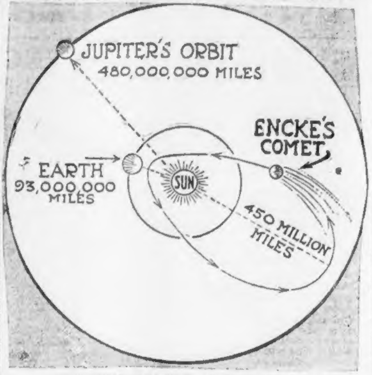
COMET EXPECTED TO PASS BETWEEN EARTH AND SUN



ENCKE'S COMET AND ITS PATH

Scientists at Harvard were interested to learn from Argentina that this wanderer of the heavens had again been sighted. It was discovered in 1786 by Mechain at Paris.

LAWRENCE MAN FINED $250 AS "MOONSHINER"

Lawrence, Aug. 3.—A fine of $250 was imposed in District Court here on Michael Chevecik of Wildwood road, Andover, on a charge of illegal keeping of liquor. He told Justice Frederick N. Chandler that he had been engaged in the moonshine manufacturing business for two weeks, "to pay off the mortgage on the old home." This did not excite the sympathy of the court, however. Lawrence was the market place for the liquor which the accused said he sold at $5 a gallon wholesale.

SEVEN COWS KILLED BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 3.—Seven cows, owned by Samuel Dupuis in Canaan, N. H., were instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while feeding in a pasture during a heavy thunder shower which passed over the town.

The animals were found by their owner lying close together when he went to drive them in. Considerable damage was done to crops, trees were blown down and the roads badly washed by the wind and rain in the course of the shower.

ENCKE'S COMET AGAIN VISIBLE, HARVARD HEARS

Moving at Fast Rate, But Exact Position Not Located by Local Astronomers

Encke's comet—one of the most interesting of all comets to those astronomically wise—may now be seen from the earth.

News to this effect has just been received at the Harvard College Observatory from Professor C. D. Perrine, director of the National Observatory at Cordoba, Argentina. Professor Perrine received the information from an observer in Santiago, Chile.

Just where Encke's comet is, Harvard astronomers do not know. They have not located the object, and Professor Perrine did not include the comet's position in his cablegram.

As one of the astronomers at the Harvard observatory told a reporter of the Boston American, it would be fruitless to search for Encke without some knowledge of its position.

Furthermore, it would be in vain without a telescope, even if one did know the position of the ball of light and flowing tail. Seldom is Encke's comet visible to the naked eye. But the star-gazers watch for this comet for hours, because of the interesting facts they learn by such an observation.

Encke's comet is one of the most important comets to the astronomer, because it has such a "short" orbit. "Short" is the word, for what is 45,000,000 miles to an astronomer? Yet this is the diameter of the orbit of Encke's comet.

TRAVELS 20 MILES A SECOND.

And if you want to know the length of the "path" this comet travels, it is 1,125,000,000 miles. Encke certainly does not lose any time in traveling around its orbit, for it travels the distance in three and a half years, or at the rate of about twenty miles a second.

Encke's comet is in what is known as the Jupiterian group. What makes it so interesting to astronomers is its frequent appearance, making it comparatively easy to calculate the elements—periodisity, distance, inclination to the solar plane, etc., etc.

Sometimes this comet is more easily observed from the Southern hemisphere than from the Northern. But inhabitants of the earth need not worry about this comet dashing into them, for the nearest Encke comes this way is 30,000,000 miles.

In traveling around its orbit, Encke goes about 30,000,000 miles from the sun. This is the nearest it gets to the sun. When Encke reaches its nearest point to the sun, it is 63,000,000 miles from the earth. It is 93,000,000 miles from the earth to the sun.

Astronomers differ as to the composition of the comet. For the most part it consists of gaseous elements.

Encke's comet was first discovered by Mechain at Paris in 1786. In 1819, J. F. Encke, a German, located the comet and became so fascinated by it that he began to determine its elements.

The comet was named for him in acknolwledgment of his diligence and success in determining the elements.

It was Encke who informed the world that this comet would be visible every three and a half years. Altogether Encke's comet has been observed thirty-five times. Each time a little more data is obtained.

SELDOM SEEN BY NAKED EYE.

When first discovered it did not present a tail. Some years it presents a tail, and other years looks like a round ball of fire, with a fuzzy edge. Very seldom is Encke's comet visible to the naked eye, though on several occasions it has been.

MAN AND WIFE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gill of Warwick road, Newton, were seriously injured when they were hurled from their auto into Putnam's Pond, Reading, after plunging over an eight-foot embankment at Dead Man's Curve on the Andover turnpike.

Mr. Gill lost control of the car as he approached Dead Man's Curve and the machine skidded off the road. Both were rescued from drowning by passersby. Mrs. Gill suffered a severe cut over the right eye, which necessitated several stitches and internal injuries. Mr. Gill received cuts and bruises of the body.

HUB CYCLIST CLEARED OF SPEEDING CHARGE

Lawrence, Aug. 3.—Charged with violating the speed laws on a motorcycle, Robert Cameron of Boston appeared in District Court here. The case involved a five-mile race through Lawrence streets in which the motorcyclist out-classed a police officer in an automobile. The Boston man declared that at the time of the one-sided race he was entertaining a party of guests at his home. His wife corroborated his testimony and the court dismissed the case for lack of sufficient evidence.

SCOUR WOODS FOR MISSING MANUFACTURER

Searching Parties and Bloodhounds Seek Lost New Hampshire Man

Canaan, N. H., Aug. 3.—Searching parties are scouring the woods here for traces of Ernest A. Barney, fifty-two years old, proprietor of the Mascoma Manufacturing Company, who mysteriously disappeared from his home on Canaan street.

Mrs. Barney, wife of the missing man, believes he has been suffering from overwork. Mrs. Abbie Barney, his mother, who also lives at the Barney residence, is of the same opinion.

No other reason for the disappearance can be assigned, and it is believed by some that Mr. Barney has met with some accident.

Bloodhounds were secured today to aid in the search if the parties hunting for the man fail to find him.

Mystery is added to the case by a report that a person answering the description of the missing man was seen by one of the searchers in nearby woods, but ran into the bushes when spoken to.

LOWEST BID FAILS TO LAND SCHOOL JOB

Contrary to the usual rule, the lowest bidder for the contract of the schoolhouse department for erecting a class room in the Girls' Latin School did not win the job. It went to Archdeacon & Sullivan for $1,998, even though the bid of the Hub Contracting Company was $1,713.

No certified check accompanied the bid of the Hub company. Archdeacon & Sullivan complied with this condition. Because of this failure on the part of the lowest bidder the department voted to reject all bids and then voted subject to the approval of Mayor Peters to accept the bid of Archdeacon & Sullivan.

TEN IMMIGRANT GIRLS WED IN NORTH END

Italian Brides Hurry From Ship to Sacred Heart Church Where Knots Are Tied

Ten brides who arrived from Italy on the liner Canopic were married in Father Domisick Dellarole's Sacred Heart Church in North Square. Some of the couples had never met before the liner docked at Commonwealth Pier, but recognizing their mates from pictures that had been exchanged, hurried through the formalities of the Immigration Bureau to the Italian church in North square.

Other couples met at the pier who had not seen each other for a number of years, although they had been sweethearts since childhood. Mrs. Marie Vitale, Italian immigration worker with the Catholic Charitable Bureau, was bridesmaid for several of the immigrants.

UNIONS DEMAND MORE WORK AT FORE RIVER

Quincy Mayor Promises Mass Meeting That Action by Congress Will Be Urged

More than 1,000 men attended the mass meeting called by the Federation of Labor unions and the various crafts employed at the Fore River ship building yards, held on the Fore River Club grounds at Quincy Point, for the purpose of arousing public sentiment to have Congress appropriate more money to build new ships and relieve acute working conditions at Quincy.

Mayor William A. Bradford of Quincy was the principal speaker at the meeting and he promised the workers that he would call a special meeting of the City Council next Friday for the purpose of adopting resolutions to send to Washington.

Frank W. Lynch presided at the meeting and addresses were made by members of the City Council and prominent labor leaders.

Many men were laid off at the Fore River plant following the action taken by Washington officials limiting the number of government ships, while the 2,000 still employed at the plant are working on a five-hour-day basis.

CHARLESTOWN VETERAN FIREMEN GIVEN BADGES

Three twenty-five-year membership badges have been presented to old-time members of the Charlestown Veteran Firemen's Association, by the president of the association, Captain Philip A. Tague of Engine 50, Charlestown. The recipients were Court Officer Henry Fox of the Charlestown Municipal Court, the oldest court officer in the State, who was for many years secretary of the association and who is seventy-eight years of age; George S. Campbell, eighty-four years old, and Gustavus A. Norton, eighty-five years old. Each veteran was also given a bouquet of flowers by Captain Tague.

10-WEEKS BRIDE HAS HUSBAND IN COURT

Lawrence, Aug. 3.—Scarcely over their honeymoon period after being married ten weeks ago following a twenty-four-hour acquaintance and courtship, domestic troubles between George Raston and his wife, Gladys Mariel Raston were aired in District Court here when the husband was charged with assault on his wife. He paid a fine of $10. The trouble started between them about two weeks ago, according to the court testimony when the wife became friendly with Mrs. Leah Demers, their boarding mistress. The husband objected to his wife's companionship with Mrs. Demers, whereupon trouble ensued.

GIRL SUES SCULPTOR'S SON FOR $25,000 BALM

New York, Aug. 3.—Almena Scorpioni, a young Italian, has filed a breach of promise suit for $25,000 against Claude MacNeil, son of Herman A. MacNeil, the well known sculptor, in whose home at College Point she was formerly an inmate.

The girl was brought from her home in Italy to the Long Island estate of the MacNeils about a year ago. It is said she was treated more as a companion than as a servant during her stay. Miss Scorpioni charges that young MacNeil won her love while she was with his mother and that he promised to marry her.

NORWOOD MAN AGREES TO SUPPORT FAMILY

Joseph Dudutis of Norwood promised Judge Keating of the Superior Court to maintain his wife and four children provided that she would agree not to have male boarders in the house. Dudutis and his wife separated some time ago, because he objected to a man who lived in their house. Mrs. Dudutis with her children then went to Lynn and secured employment in a shoe factory. She had her husband arrested for failing to support her, and he was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction. Dudutis appealed to the Superior Court of Essex County where the appeal taken by him is pending.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. ELIZABETH TWEED

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth (Gould) Tweed, of Revolutionary ancestry, were heeld in the Crematory Chapel at Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge. Rev. William S. Perkins, pastor of the Universalist Church in Wakefield, officiated. The ashes were interred in the family lot in Lakeside Cemetery, Wakefield. Mrs. Tweed was born in Wakefield seventy-six years ago, the daughter of Abraham and Jane Gould, and had lived there most of her life, until she went to Concord several years ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Richard L. Foster.

HOVEY'S NEW "STORE NEWS"

—which will appear in the Boston American every evening, except Friday and Saturday, during the month of August —and every day thereafter if our customers approve of this innovation.

IN the past it has been the custom of the C. F. Hovey Company to advertise extensively, using larger space, with a consequently greater advertising cost.

¶ This advertising expense naturally must be figured in the selling prices, as in every store.

¶ We believe, with John Wanamaker, that "it is not big type and big talk in the newspapers, but the quality, fashion and fair price of the goods in the store which make value and give lasting satisfaction."

¶ We have, therefore, decided to eliminate, as far as practicable, large, costly headlines and large size advertisements and will concentrate our efforts toward displaying greater values in smaller space.

¶ Beginning today, our advertising in Boston newspapers will take the form of the advertisement for tomorrow's selling, which appears at the right of this announcement.

¶ In justice to our customers, it may be necessary to make slight exceptions to this rule from time to time—as in the case of our

BILLION-DOLLAR U. S. CREDIT TO AID NORMALCY

Federal Backing to Revive the Flagging Industries

Washington, Aug. 3.—Business depressed by deflation and world credit snags, is to be buoyed up by the stimulous of government credit support, which experts today estimated probably would aggregate nearly $1,000,000,000 in the next 90 days.

The certainty of government aid already has checked the tide of receding prices to below production costs in leading industries. The plans of the administration to sustain and revive industry were sharply outlined today by officials of the cabinet under these heads:

1—The War Finance Corporation, by legislation, which President Harding and leaders in Congress agree is imperative, will loan up to $1,000,000,000 to revive business and industry.

2—Quick relief for the railroads, in the shape of advances totalling $500,000,000 is expected before the close of August, with new assurances that the legislative track will be cleared to make this financing possible without disastrous delays to the carriers and to commerce generally.

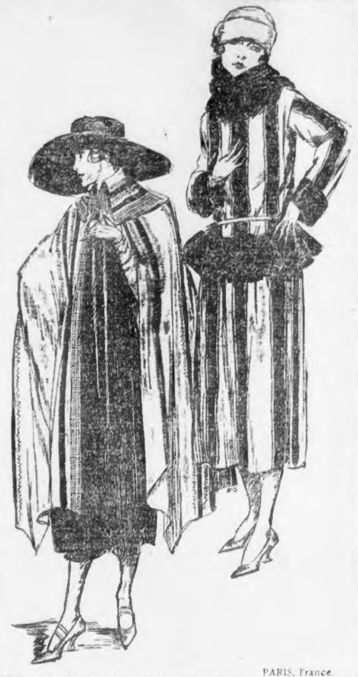
2—Producers of cotton, wheat, livestock and other commodities classified as provisions are to be beneficiaries of enormous loans from the government. These will be made upon new authority to be given the War Finance Corporation for the financing of domestic farm products. Now largely the several staple crop producers will share the government advances is not now definitely clear, but it is evident upon the proposals now being considered that the government will release cash in such volume as will adequately safeguard the producers against losses. The cotton industry alone at the end of another sixty days will have received probably not les sthan $100,000,000. Equally large support will be given under the corporations new powers to finance export commodities under conditions which producers or exporters to hold the goods in American warehouses for a period of six months before actual movement overseas.

FLAY DESECRATION OF LYNN WAR MEMORIAL

The charge that Lynn's soldier dead are being defamed through construction of an outhouse and watering trough from a former memorial, was made to Mayor Walter H. Creamer today by Post No. 6 of the American Legion.

According to former service men, a wooden memorial was erected in front of the Lynn city hall, bearing the names of all Lynn soldiers, sailors and marines who died during the war. A permanent memorial of stone was eventually placed in position and the wooden memorial removed. It is claimed that this wooden memorial was then taken to the Lynn Woods and used for the construction of an outhouse and watering trough.

Fresh From Paris



PARIS, France.

THE sports note of the Autumn mode is sounded in two unusually attractive models from Paris, sketched above. At the left a circular cape of light gray wool fabric is striped all about in dark red and has a red and gray checked border design extending around the high turned-over collar. In common with the smarter Autumn caps, this one is pointed at each side front to give it length, and another detail evident in several of the new models is the small bow fastening at the throat. Such a cape would be suitable for either city or country wear.

EXCEEDINGLY practical is the little trotteur of white tricot (right), broadly striped with hunter green. The over-blouse is scarfed an dedged in matching green broadcloth, having cuffs of the same fabric, and is finished with a narrow white kid belt. The close-fitting white felt hat is typical of the sort that has been widely popular in straw during the Summer and will continue good in felt during the Autumn season.

CHILD'S BACK BROKEN, POLICE INVESTIGATING

Springfield, Aug. 3—East Whatley authorities are investigating the beating of Antonia Wills, aged three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wills. The child is at Weston Hospital, Springfield, with a broken back. It is claimed Mrs. Wills, the baby's stepmother, threw it down stairs in a fit of anger. The alleged attack occurred June 10. The child's survival is considered miraculous by physicians. Both Wills have been in trouble before.

FORECASTS DIRE SITUATION IN RUSSIA

Death Rate This Winter Will "Stagger the World," Says Report to Hoover

Washington, Aug. 3.—The economic situation in Russia foreshadows a death rate during the coming Winter that will "stagger the world," according to information make public by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

General stagnation of agricultural and industrial activities has resulted in conditions appalling to officials of relief organizations who have acquainted themselves with the situation, it was stated.

While an unprecedented drought is credited with bringing to a head the present famine in the Volga Valley from the Caspian Sea northward, it is stated that conditions "would not be of such fatal character but for the general decadence of agriculture, in reduction of surplus in other regions, and in the decay of transportation."

This state of affairs renders most difficult the movement of such local surpluses as do still exist, it is explained.

AGRICULTURE DECLINES.

Agricultural reports from various regions are cited by Secretary Hoover to show that in many instances less than half the arable area in the food-producing provinces has been sown, while such crops as were expected have been practically wiped out by the drought.

"Overriding such local situations," the report continues, "there has been a steady decline in agricultural production ever since the revolution, owing to the lack of incentive to farmers to provide more than their own needs, to the shortage of seed and shortage of implements.

"The urban population has produced little goods to offer in exchange and the money depreciation, through the increase of currency issues to over 1,000 billions of roubles, has rendered their accumulation no attraction.

"From these causes Russia, even before last year's harvest, had declined from a state producing from six to ten million tons of food for export to a condition where there was such an insufficient supply of food for the cities that the urban population has been reduced to about one half."

TRANSPORT BEAKDOWN.

Purporting to show that the Russian railways have deteriorated to the point where motive power is cut down 75 per cent., Hoover declares that, "The North Russian shortage is due not so much to local famine as to general agricultural decadence and especially to breakdown in transport from the South and East."

The Volga region, where the famine rages worst, is even less accessible to transport of relief from abroad through the seaports than from Siberia, it is asserted, while the North Russian area, being nearer the seaboard, can be relieved to some extent from the outside.

"The decadence in fat production is even more general and more acute than in breadstuffs, owing to the requisition of animals and the diversion of animal feeds to breadstuffs," Mr. Hoover continues.

"Consequently, children are suffering more acutely in many sections than adults," he declares.

WELLESLEY LINKED TO METROPOLITAN SEWER

After seven years of striving on the part of Wellesley townspeople, that community has been linked up with the Metropolitan sewer system. About 500 house connections have already been made at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, according to Town Clerk John Ryan.

Capital Suicide May Be Lost Son of Former Lawrence Woman

Lawrence, Aug. 3.—Charles Ammon, long sought by relatives in this city, may be the sailor who committed suicide in Washington, after writing across a dollar bill, "The eagle screams for me no more."

Lawrence relatives of Sailor Ammon are investigating the case. The mother of Charles Ammon, the missing Lawrence lad, is now living in Austria. He made hasty visits, but for the past several years has been unheard of by relatives here and abroad. His aunts here are Mrs. Freda Galle, No. 54 Centre street, and Mrs. Selma Voigt, of No. 7 Berkely court.

11 OF 12 MISSING FISHERMEN PICKED UP

All but One of Lost Crew Found by Schooner Searching for Four of Its Own Men

Eleven of the twelve missing members of the crew of the fishing schooner Mary DeCosta, who were lost while fishing in dories, last Sunday, on the South Channel grounds, off Cape Cod, have been brought into port by the schooner Eleanor Decosta.

Only Denis Boudreau of East Boston remains unaccounted for and it is believed he was picked up by some ship.

The men from the Mary DeCosta put off in dories to haul trawls. After leaving the schooner, a warship en route to the Plymouth exercises swept by, compelling the schooner to change her position to avoid collision.

The fog was dense and the crew in the dories lost the schooner and were unable to hear the foghorn.

Search by Captain Murphy failed to reveal their whereabout and he returned to Boston with his flag at half mast.

Sunday evening the Eleanor DeCosta, searching for four of her own crew, who had strayed from their ship in the fog, gathered in the eleven men and learned that the four missing members of the Eleanor's crew were safe on board the Josephine DeCosta, one of the fishing fleet.

The names of the rescued members of the crew follow:

Jack Todd, Raymond and Noah Porter, Joseph Bernard, Joseph Perry, Peter Surrett and Leondy Bellevue, all of East Boston; Chris and Philip White of South Boston, Peter Dolton of Charlestown and Daniel McComisky of Everett.

CHELSEA PASTOR TO WED PARISH WORKER

The engagement has been announced of the Rev. George A. Barrow, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Washington avenue, Chelsea, to Miss Helen R. Choate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Choate, of No. 82 Tudor street, Chelsea. Miss Choate, who is a graduate of Smith College, has been active in the affairs of the church.

WATERPOWER TO SAVE BOSTON VAST SUM

Utilization for Electricity Will Cut Costs, U. S. Experts Find

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Enormous savings will be made in the way of fuel, labor and materials in the utilization of the waterpower in the Washington-Boston industrial region for the generation and distribution of electricity, according to a special report soon to be made to Congress, it was learned today.

This report was authorized by the last sundry civil bill which carried an appropriation of $125,000 "for a survey of power production and distribution in the United States, including the study of methods for further utilization of water power, and the special investigation of the possible economy of fuel, labor and materials resulting from the use of the Boston-Washington Industrial region of a comprehensive system for the generation of electricity to transportation lines and industries and the preparation of reports thereon."

The survey was conducted by the U. S. geological survey and the finishing touches to the report are now being made preparatory to its submission to Congress. Prior to its submission the report is being carefully guarded, but it is learned the commission making the survey has painted a glowing picture of the enormous economies that would be saved by the utilization of the water power in this super-power zone, comprising two per cent. of the land area of the United States, a territory rich in manufacturing enterprises.

The entering wedge in this vast project is the filing with the federal power commission of applications for preliminary permits to construct certain dams over the Delaware river, which would create a hydro-electric power system for certain parts of Pennsylvania and New York.

SENDING OF POLICE TO STRIKE SCENE SCORED

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 3.—Alderman John L. Barry, president of the State Federation of Labor, vigorously attacked in a meeting of the Aldermen the action of Chief of Police M. J. Healy, in sending a squad of Manchester police, under a sergeant, to North Walpole to preserve order because of the strike of employes of the International Paper Co. Alderman Barry intimated that Chief Healy was attempting to establish a State police out of his department and likened them to the "Pennsylvania Cossacks." A motion of Alderman Barry that the Board of Aldermen go on record as against the action of the chief of police and that the Mayor be instructed to use his efforts to secure the return of the officers was lost.

3 MONTHS FOR LYNN MAN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Thomas Pappas, thirty years old, of Astona place, Lynn, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction and fined $300 by Judge Burke in the Boston Municipal Court when found guilty of keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquors in his store on North Margin street.

He was re-arrested by Inspector Connolly of police headquarters, charged with the larceny of an auto valued at $700, and $300 by means of alleged worthless checks on July 14 from Spylious Assumakapoulos of Ashburton road, Fitchburg.

EX-LAWRENCE CITY MARSHAL IS SUICIDE

David Bailey Talks With Son, Then Sends Bullet Into Brain

Lawrence, Aug. 3.—David Bailey, 80 years old, former city marshal, and president of the Cold Spring Brewing Company, committed suicide today by shooting himself through the head.

The shooting took place in the yard of his son, James Bailey, No. 512 Lowell street, this city, and is believed to have been due to poor health. Father and son had been talking on general topics and James had just entered the house when he heard the sound of a shot.

The elder Bally ewas born in Bradford, and for some years was an agent of the Lawrence Board of Health. In 1885 he was appointed a captain of police and in 1896 was made marshal.

NEWPORT COUNTRY CLUB RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

Newport, Aug. 3.—Edward J. Berwind, the "coal baron," was again elected president of the Newport Country Club at the annual meeting and all the other officers were also re-elected, the only changes being the addition of Mrs. Vincent Astor to the house committee and Louis Livingston to the greens committee. Royal Phelps Carroll is secretary and treasured and Henry O. Havemeyer assistant secretary.

FOUR GIRLS SMOKE CIGARETTES IN AUTO

Mansfield, Aug. 3—Four women drove up to a local store in a large touring car. One of the party alighted and purchased packages of cigarettes. All the women then "lighted up" and drove through the main street, attracting much attention.

WATER CARNIVAL GREAT AID TO HEALTH

Any New England Girl May Enjoy Benefits of Boston American's Contest

Physical development is something every girl delights in acquiring during the formative period of her life and in early womanhood. The Boston American realizes the enormous value of swimming as a step in that direction and has arranged for a monster water carnival to be held in the Charles River Basin, West End, Saturday afternoon, August 27, from 2:30 to 4 o'clock.

The art of natation has always been encouraged by physical instructors throughout the world. History is replete with stories of mermaids who developed supple and efficient muscles which yielded them unusual strength and beauty. Thousands of girls who took part in aquatic stunts run off under the direction of the Boston American in the Charles River Basin will testify to the value of swimming as a form of exercise which develops thoroughly and systematically.

NEED HAVE NO FEAR.

Swimming girls in all sections of New England are invited to improve their health by participating in this ig carnival, the main features of which will be the one and one-half mile and the 200-feet race. Girls should not fear such a long swim. Every movement of the feet and hands develops the muscles in the body, stimulates the organs and drives all impurities out of the system by the exhilarating flow of blood through the arteries. This fact ought to enlist every girl who has a penchant for looking fresh in the face and symmetrical in poise of body to enroll as a participant in the race.

The Swimming Editor is attending to all the necessary details for the safety of the girls who will be in the race and has received assurances from Superintendent West and Lieutenant Albert Chapman of the basin police that there will be a clear course up and down stream. The start of the race will be from the float of the Metropolitan Park Commission, at the foot of Revere street; the turn to be made at the left of the stake boat near Harvard bridge. The first girl to finish will be hailed New England Amateur girl champion for 1921 and will get a valuable prize. Each of the next four girls will be given expensive souvenirs, and a diploma will go to each other girl who finishes the course.

END IN PICTURES.

Girls are invited to send in photos of themselves in bathing suits. Be sure to have the face clear. Snapshots are useless. And be sure that the picture you do send in is your own, that is to say, one taken of you in bathing costume. Don't get into the joking class by sending someone else's photo. It is a misdemeanor to do so. The Swimming Editor must make certain that things are as they seem.

How can I enter the contest? you ask. Well, all you have to do is fill out the blank elsewhere on this page and mail it to the Swimming Editor.

YOU CANNOT HAVE BEAUTY

If Your Complexion Is Marred By Blemishes

It is a well known fact that beauty cannot be if the complexion is in any way marred by pimples, dark, sallow discolorations.

If you suffer any of these skin blemishes begin at once the use of Black and White Beauty Bleach.

This delightfully perfumed cold cream compound will make the skin clear, smooth, delicately tinted and remove unsightly blemishes. When applied it forms an invisible coating on the skin. The regular use of Black and White Soap will keep the skin in perfect condition.

DOCTORS SAY CONSTIPATION POISONS SYSTEM

The majority of people suffer from constipation, which poisons the whole system and causes coated tongues, bad headaches, foul breath; in children often results in high fever and actual illness.

These conditions may be quickly relieved by Dr. True's Elixir—the Family Laxative that has worked wonders for men, women and children since 1851.

"I have great faith in your Dr. True's Elixir, I give it to my boy, it is doing him much good and I would not be without a bottle for anything." Mrs. Joseph Boyce (Tracey Station, N. B.)

You know the symptoms of chronic constipation—sour stomach, belching, bad breath, heavy, dull eyes, constant headaches, and general out-of-sorts feeling. Dr. True's Elixir will help you.—Advertisement.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

DEBS' FRIENDS LAY AMNESTY SHIFT TO TAFT

Blame Chief Justice for Sudden Change in Front of Administration

By NORMAN HAPGOOD

Staff Correspondent of Boston American

Washington, Aug. 3.—Washington is fond of puzzles. It likes to speculate particularly on what influences have brought about this, that, or the other result.

An odd story has now obtained rather wide credence as an explanation of the change of front of the administration in the Debs case. This story, rather improbable from my point of view, but most energetically upheld, is that the influence that led the administration to delay and apparently to abandon its amnesty program was Chief Justice Taft.

The circulation of this explanation is especially lively in amnesty groups. A number of them wrote to me in reference to it about the same time. When I expressed scepticism they brought forward a chain of circumstances which in their opinion formed a strong prima facie case.

TAFT'S NAME INVOLVED.

Debs, it seems, in former campaigns has spoken pretty roughly of Mr. Taft.

That is circumstance number one. Circumstance number two is, according to these people, that Mr. Taft in his syndicated newspaper articles had spoken against amnesty.

Circumstance number three, they go on, is that after Debs was summoned to Washington for the spectacular call on Mr. Daugherty it happened that the very next caller on the Attorney-General was Mr. Taft. And Mr. Daugherty's change of front was immediate.

As giving plausibility to so sudden a change they argue that several attorney-generals have gone on the Supreme Court; that Mr. Daugherty hopes sometime to go on; that his experience might raise a question about his qualifications; and that to have the friendship rather than the disapproval of the chief justice when the President was deciding such a question would be a clear advantage.

RATHER AN EXCUSE.

Nobody but Mr. Taft or Mr. Daugherty can tell whether this spreading story is true or not. I am rather inclined to think it has been seized upon by people weary and discouraged and reaching out for some explanation of what they cannot understand.

It is natural for people suffering, as the relatives and friends of Eugene Debs are suffering, to seek for an interpretation. Mankind often looks for a very definite explanation of troubles when the real causes are much vaguer.

In my own opinion it is not one man who swung the attorney-general and the President around. It is rather the natural result of a method. The method was to make a highly dramatic move and then listen to the returns.

The returns were not helpful. The exultation that a high-minded and liberty-marking act was apparently about to be performed did not equal in volume, by a lot, the amount of protest from the vehement, even if small group, that fights the war over every day, and all day long, and enjoys fighting it over more than they could enjoy any useful constructive work, or any human kindness.

KIND IN MAJORITY.

These people I pass over to Dr. Freud, but they are compact and energetic, and they therefore exercise more political influence than the unorganized and bewildered army of the kind-hearted and forgiving.

In numbers those who wish amnesty must obviously be more numerous than those energized by a civic thirst for blood. In the first place there are the million or so whose choice for President is this Eugene Debs. Then in addition are the Quakers, the other simple followers of Jesus, the believers in the slow, sure working of moderation and leniency, and lastly I must believe a huge majority of the kindlier sex.

It is an example of a truth, illustrated over and over again, that if we merely listen for active comment a small and energetic group will often count far beyond its numbers.

But if the friends and relatives of Debs have guessed wrong in their explanation it is no cause for wonder. They are distracted. They know that Debs, for all his brave words, is failing. They love him. They fear his death.

A CRUEL PREDICAMENT.

They are puzzled over the course for them to pursue. They are impelled to go to Washington and perpetually demonstrate, in order to keep their protest in the public eye.

But when they indicate this intention they are successfully frightened by the threat that if such a step is taken the amnesty, still dangled before them, will be put forever out of mind.

It is a cruel predicament, and their hearts are filled with worry. Worry often leads to strange fables to explain the causes from which springs the anguish, whatever it may be, that is eating at our souls.

PROPOSED 10 P. C. AUTO TAX STIRS MOTORISTS

Washington, Aug. 3.—The American Motorist, as represented by the American Automobile Association, rose up in wrath against the proposal to lay an additional tax of 10 per cent. on automobiles. The association served notice on Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee that it plans to combat with every weapon in its power the imposition of any more taxes on autos.

"Motor vehicle owners now pay more than any other class of individuals," said a letter from the association to Fordney.

Yacht Races at Newport Draw Fashionable Set

(Photo by White.)

Miss Elizabeth Zerrahn, a Vincent Club girl, who is active in social affairs of the younger set. Miss Zerrahn was one of the beautiful bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Clarissa Curtis and Prince Cantacuzene in the early Summer. She is a member of the Chilton, Country and Tavern Clubs, as well as the Vincent Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Zerrahn, whose Summer home is at Milton.

By BETTY ALDEN

Society at Newport continues to give the major portion of its attention to the yacht races being held in Newport bay this week. There have been dinners and luncheons aboard a number of the craft appearing in the various racing events and society leaders and buds are finding this week a most strenuous one. With the brilliant tennis matches at the Casino attracting its quota of charming devotees there are no idle moments for the more ambitious matrons.

As this is the first cruise of the New York Yacht Club since the World War, more attention than usual is being shown to the various racing events. Society is also discovering that a number of its most prominent males are very able seamen. Today's races are scheduled for fifty, forty and thirty-footers for prizes offered by the Newport Racing Association.

Mrs. Vincent Astor will be hostess on board the Astor yacht, the Nourmahal. Mrs. Arthur Curtis James will entertain a select company on board the Aloha.

Tonight Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie will be hostess at a dinner at her villa. Later in the week Mrs. Andrew M. Moreland, Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. Edward J. Berwind and Mrs. William Whitehouse will entertain at dinner parties.

Miss Eleonora Sears, who recently arrived at her home in Beverly, from a trip through Europe, is a house guest of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont at the Belmont estate in Newport for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Jones Colford, of Lenox, Mass., are visiting friends in Newport for the week and attending the various yachting races.

Dates for the Piping Rock Horse Show, an annual event in the Locust valley colony, and which is attended by the social elect from the North shore, have been changed from September 30 and October 1, to October 7 and 8. There will be much entertaining at the various estates on Long Island and at the club during the show. A number of house parties have been planned for these dates.

Messrs. B. H. Bristow Draper and Augustus F. Goodwin of Boston, are among the interested spectators at the polo tournament being held on the polo field of the Point Judith Country Club at Narragansett Pier. The polo tournament has been attracting members of the social set summering along the South shore.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Paine and son are guests at Hill Top Inn, Newport.

Mrs. Boylston Beal and daughter, Elizabeth, who have recently returned from an extended trip abroad, are now at their Summer home on Smith's Point, Manchester. Mr. Beal, who is a special attache of the American Embassy in London, is still on duty abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Miller and their son, Frank, of Lower Newton Falls, are vacationing in Camden, Me., where they will remain for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Ely Chambers will be the house guests for the month of August at Bon Acre, the Summer home of Mrs. Chambers' parents, Dr. and Mrs. P. Flewellen Chambers, at Southampton, L. I. Mrs. Chambers, who was formerly Mary Billard, daughter of Mrs. Isaac W. Chick of Commonwealth avenue, was one of the charming Easter brides this season.

Mrs. Everett Morse, No. 115 Commonwealth avenue, returned Sunday from a three months' trip through Europe, traveling particularly through the picturesque parts of Spain. Mr. Morse, who accompanied his wife on the trip, returned about three weeks ago. Mrs. Morse spent some time visiting friends in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lamson have as their guest Judge Robert Miller Stark of Waltham at their Summer home in Belfast, Me.

An engagement of interest to Boston society is that of Miss Marie Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Whiting of Chicago, to Philip L. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Hill and grandson of the late William H. Hill of Brookline, a Boston banker. Miss Whiting and her mother are guests at the home of Mr. Hill's parents at North Scituate, Mass., where they will remain until September.

HOUSE ADOPTS BILL FOUNDING VETS' BUREAU

Sweet Measure, Combining Various Relief Agencies Now Goes to President

Washington, August 3.—The House adopted the conference report on the Sweet bill, establishing a veterans' bureau in the Treasury Department and combining the various government agencies in charge of government relief. The measure now goes to the President, the Senate having adopted the report Monday.

The vote in the House was 264 to 4 and was reached after only a few minutes' discussion.

During the course of a statement by Representative Sweet, of Iowa, author of the measure, Republican leader Mondell inquired how the bill would operate during its first year.

When the new bureau is established, Sweet said, it will expend $400,000,000 during the present fiscal year for aid for the ex-service men. This is an increase of $20,000,000 over the expenditures for soldier relief for the past year.

The cost of maintaining the new bureau during the present year will be $13,000,000 Sweet said. This would be a saving of more than $25,000,000, he added.

Representative Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, made an effort to insert an amendment allowing $20 a month for a nurse for each ex-service man totally disabled. He was supported by Representatives Lineberger of California, Fish of New York and Rosenbloom of West Virginia. After the defeat of Blanton's motion, these four Representatives voted against the conference report.

LOST HEIRESS SAFE BUT BROKE IN EUROPE

Bored by New Castle, Pa., Flits Oversea, Cables Dad for Cash

London, Aug. 3.—Miss Charlotte Boyles, of New Castle, Pa., is possessed in lavish measure of pep, personality and pulchritude. When she glances into the mirror a pleasant view regards her glances. When her lips undulate into a smile, two enamored swains will attest, one's pulse races riotously and insomnia ensues.

But tradesmen have impressed on Miss Boyles that pep, personality and pulchritude are non-negotiable qualities unless fortified with cash.

And therein lies the discovery that the impulsive leader of New Castle's younger society set skipped off to Europe when she disappeared on the morning of July 5 last, and that she is not going to exchange her inheritance for a title, but is hopeful of a wedding with an unnamed American.

Ever since she fled at 3 o'clock in the morning of July 5 private detectives have sought her. She managed to keep her whereabouts secret until a few days ago when it dawned on her that even if Dad wasn't let in on her elopement plan there was no reason why he should be kept in the dark as to her shortage of funds.

CABLES FATHER.

She has cabled him for money and the father, David Boyles, retired millionaire business man, thus apprised of her whereabouts, has taken steps to induce her return from London.

Miss Boyles is twenty-one. She was graduated from the New Castle High School in 1918 and then attended a finishing school in Washington. On attaining her majority recently she inherited $250,000 from a grandmother's estate. Boyles Manor, her home, is one of the show places of New Castle.

Among her numerous suitors was Count Guy Trepinard, a Frenchman, whose finances were swept into the past tense by the war, but whose courtship was very much in the present tense, when he was a guest at the Boyles home recently. It was rumored then that a title was to come into the Boyles family.

The Count returned to Paris and from there wrote frequently to the society girl.

TIRED OF ROUTINE.

Shortly after midnight of July 4, Miss Boyles telephoned to James Fowler, a taxi-driver, asking that he call for her at a specific spot near the estate at 3 o'clock in the morning. Heavily veiled, she entered the machine at the hour and was driven to Pittsburgh. She said to the chauffeur:

"I'm tired of the dull routine of New Castle. Same faces, same streets, same everything. I'm not coming back."

She arrived at Pittsburgh at 5:15 o'clock and ten minutes later was on a New York train. Her father's investigators learned that she obtained a passport to visit France and Switzerland. It was believed she had determined to elope with the Count. The police of France, Switzerland and England were asked to look for her, but she was not found until she sent a cable for money.

While cashing a traveler's check she informed an express company agent that on the seven-days' voyage from New York to France she had discovered that while the Frenchman was "a dandy chap," her heart really belonged to an American she met aboard ship and whom she had decided to marry.

TO SEEK INTENDED HUSBAND.

She added:

"The Frenchman can stay where he is. I'm going to London when I get through shopping here in Paris and I'm going to look up the man I met on the boat. We ought to get better acquainted. He's a real man. I'm having the time of my life and I'm free from those who have tried to make life unpleasant for me."

Ruefully she deplored that her cash had about given out and that she was "up against it" when shopping. However, she said:

"I'm going to cable dad to send me some of my money."

She was asked:

"Do you think you can induce him to do so?"

She replied:

"Ask dad, he knows."

Clark Professor Explains Recent Thunderstorms

Worcester, Aug. 3.—Professor Charles F. Brooks, head of the climatory and meteorology departments at Clark University, tells why New England has been afflicted by so many electrical storms of late.

He says low atmospheric pressure is the reason. Warmed air lying close to the ground rose repeatedly at the same hour every afternoon of late, he says, and becoming suddenly cooled caused rain clouds to form with the usual electrical accompaniment.

Last Sunday's storm is a "wind shift line," because it was produced by the coming of a cool breeze and explains that the other electrical storms did not leave the air cool afterward because they were entirely local.

SOMERVILLE MACHINE FOUND IN BROOKLYN

An automobile stolen from Joseph Glazier of No. 82 School street, Somerville, in that city on January 6, last, has been recovered in Brooklyn, N. Y., according to a report received by Chief of Police Charles A. Kendall of Somerville. Inspector Daniel G. Simons and Mr. Glazier leave today for the 82nd precinct police station on Snyder avenue, Brooklyn, to claim the car. When the car was stolen, Chief Kendall sent circulars, containing the numbers and facts about the car, broadcast throughout the country and it was through these circulars that the car was picked up in New York.

K. OF C. PLANS BIG SERVICE CAMPAIGN

Supreme Knight at San Francisco Outlines Pretentious Drive

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Striking the keynote of the thirty-ninth annual international convention of the Knights of Columbus, Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia before thousands of delegates and visitors representing the K. of C. organization in the United States and its possessions, Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba and Panama declared that the 800,000 members of the Knights of Columbus had gathered to rededicate themselves to service exclusively in the interests of their country.

He stated the K. of C. had enjoyed the most prosperous and effective year in its history and that its chief activities to be planned and launched at the San Francisco meeting were the campaign to spend the $5,000,000 balance of the K. of C. war fund on hospital work for disabled veterans in 62 hospitals where the K. of C. is rendering service; the initiation of the K. of C. American history work and the inauguration of the Knights, anti-tuberculosis campaign. Besides which, a committee of nationally-known educators was present, he said, to lay before the convention plans for the immediate launching of the largest correspondence school in America to be conducted by the K. of C. for the benefit of former service men desiring technical training.

"Let us organize throughout the land an army of Catholic women to co-operate with us," he said, "to remind the nation that the war is not over so long as there is a healable scar on the body or in the mind of any veteran."

Supreme Knight Flaherty made public an appeal from Pope Benedict for the K. of C. to introduce American welfare work into Italy. He announced that the Knights would raise at least $1,000,000 among themselves to inaugurate this work in Rome.

Mr. Flaherty announced that Marshal Foch had definitely accepted the invitation of the Knights of Columbus to be their guest at a great patriotic demonstration in Chicago November 6. He also announced that the K. of C. had undertaken the publication of a national monthly magazine, "Columbia," to be dedicated exclusively to Americanization in history, literature and social service. The magazine, which has Presiding Harding's endorsement, has a circulation of 750,000 with its first issue, he added.

INCREASE OF $1 IN ARLINGTON TAX RATE

Arlington tax rate for 1921 has just been given out as $29.90 on $1,000, an increase of $1 over last year's rate. The assessors give as the reason a record town grant of $749,500.94, about $80,000 more than for 1920.

ALCORUB

COOLING REFRESHING

For Bathing and Massage

ALCORUB is the same pure alcohol you used to buy for bathing and massage, made absolutely unfit for internal use, but with no poisonous, irritating additions.

It has all the antiseptic and other properties of alcohol, and its components have been chosen because of their recognized beneficial and refreshing action when applied to the skin.

SINCE PROHIBITION, until ALCORUB was perfected, alcohol for bathing and massage has been mixed with poisonous substances such as Wood Alcohol. Formaldehyde. Carbolic Acid, Bichloride of Mercury, etc.

ALCORUB has changed this.

It is no longer necessary to buy poisoned alcohol.

NANTASKET MAN SCORES BEACH CONDITIONS

Protest to Governor Recites Alleged Wrongs and Asks Better Facilities

Charging that conditions at Nantasket Beach are worse than ever before, John Henry Moran of Nantasket and East Weymouth has written a letter to Governor Cox asking that something be done to remedy the matter.

Moran charges that "women are forced to work more than eight hours," and cites the State law which governs these cases.

"Children who play on the beach with a soft rubber ball, weighing almost nothing are subject to arrest," Moran continues. "Bathers who use the State bath house for more than two hours are also forced to appear in the Hingham Court, where they are fined $5."

Moran completes his protest by stating that there are more people than ever at Nantasket and yet band concerts which in previous years were held every day are now held only on Saturdays and Sundays, and appeals to the Governor "as the actual head of the State commissions, to heed the appeals of those who pay the expenses of the State reservations and provide better facilities."

Earle Williams at Park

It's a case of back to the Balkans at the Park Theatre this week, where Earle Williams heads the bill in the Vitagraph feature, "The Silver Car."

Williams is getting a bit too heavy to be convincing as the dashing, dare-devil American who risks his neck ten or fifteen times an hour for someone else and someone else's country. "The Silver Car," however, has a lot of action which takes place in the midst of some truly remarkable scenery.

Anthony Trent won the war under the name of Alfred Anthony. At one moment he and a "buddy" were on the verge of death and in that moment exchanged confidences. When Trent was saved and later ran across the "buddy," he realized that his future was in the hands of the other and he made haste to look him up and find out his intentions. Anthony Trent, it seems, wasn't a name to be proud of.

The other had lost his memory through shellshock. So that settled that. But he had a sister. Anthony fell in love with her, but the only way to become worthy of her was to do something worth while for her father, an ex-ambassador in the Balkans. He undertook to go to Malmatia and get back a treaty which had fallen into the hands of an unscrupulous Balkan count, and then his troubles began. Williams, as Anthony, however, to use a slang expression, literally "ate them up"—the troubles, that is—and got back the treaty and did England a great service.

Mona Lisa did a splendid bit of work as Pauline Verlaine, the adventuress of the piece. She ranks close to Williams in this production. As for the rest of the company, no one stood out to any extent. The story, by Wyndham Martin, is of the usual Graustark order, with mountain fortresses, high-powered cars, and intriguing princes playing a large part.

"The Kiss," starring Carmel Myers, is the other picture on the bill.

This is a story of the Spanish of Lower California. Erolinda, daughter of the overseer of the Bardalamo rancho, and Big Audre, son of the owner of the rancho, are in love. Bardalamo, on the other hand, has decreed that Audre shall marry the daughter of an old friend. The story merely shows how Audre marries whom he likes, after all.

At no time does Carmel Myers give one the impression that she is Spanish. When given the right story, Miss Myers shows up to advantage, but she has been unfortunate in her choice of vehicles lately. George Periolat, a clever character actor, is given few opportunities for unusual work as Bardalamo, a conventional character.

CATHERINE CALVERT ON STAGE.

CATHERINE CALVERT

CATHERINE CALVERT who has been starring in Vitagraph productions since the death of her husband, Paul Armstrong, the playwright, will appear opposite Otis Skinner next season in "Blood and Sand." This play has been written by Tom Cushing from the Ibanez novel of that name.

Miss Calvert will be seen as Dona Sol, one of the most colorful and efficient vampires that has appeared between the covers of a book.

WAYS AND MEANS.

THEY were taking scenes in Hollywood a few days ago for the Frederick Earle production of "Omar Khayyam." It was a critical moment in the life of Omar when the enraged chieftain of the assassins raised his scimitar. Then over the hill a mile away rose a pillar of dust and out of it raced a group of horsemen.

"Fine!" exclaimed Mr. Earle to his technical director. "How did you get so much pep into those riders?"

"Easy," laughed Walter Mayo. "We left a dollar on the fence at the foot of the hill and the first man there got it."

"BIG BILL" HART COMING BACK.

HERE'S news for the "fans." William Hart and his pinto, Fritz, will cut short their vacation and will return to the screen next Winter. Already Hart is preparing stories and planning to start shooting by next February.

CONNOLLY TELLS OF TERROR OF DUNGARVAN

Black and Tans Launch Reign of Reprisals After Lories Are Ambushed

TORTURED IRELAND

By JAMES B. CONNOLLY

Famous New England Author and Journalist.

They were a proud people, the McDonnells; their spirit had to be broken, and so the burning. But they were never so proud as when the burning was over. The officer in charge stood on the McDonnell hill and he looked at the colorful Slieve Bloom Mountain and the beautiful Shannon River, and he said to the oldest McDonnell girl: "A wonderful view surely."

"Yes, too bad you can't destroy the view, too."

"No? But how about your grand house on the hill? Will your Sinn Fein friends build you a new house?"

To which she said: "For a hundred years before you ever saw Ireland the McDonnells had a house on this hill, and long after you and your kind are gone from here the McDonnells will still have a house on this hill."

The south and west of Ireland is full of McDonnell girls; and they being what they are, and the men in the hills matching them, how are the fat-souled, dull-witted, hired men of the English military ever going to beat them?

They are not going to beat them!

SHADOW OF MILITARY.

One morning I was in Waterford intending to scour the country north and south of the city by motor car; but no motor car man in Waterford would take me.

Why? Well, the roads were pretty well cut up, the Black and Tans were in a specially ugly temper. Well, there was a rumor of an ambush this side of Dungarvan the day before.

Just where was the ambush? Nobody knew; but the Dublin Castle report of that day had it so.

I went to Dungarvan by an afternoon train which took three hours for the twenty-eight miles. There was a little inn where food and service was as good as could be, but I was not there ten minutes before I could feel the shadow of the military hanging over everything.

I wanted some cigars. They were kept in the bar, which was locked. Whenever anybody in that inn wanted anything from the bar the landlord had to go and call the maid in charge. Why? It is safer so, was all they would say, evidently preferring not to discuss it.

I inquired into that outside, and was told that the Black and Tans and military from the barracks had been in the habit of helping themselves from whatever they fancied out of the bar; and from any other bar thereabouts, and to present a pistol to the proprietor when asked for payment.

I had the names of several people in Dungarvan who had suffered by the terror. I asked a man to show me where such and such a person's house was, naming one of the sufferers. With many cautious looks around, he took me along. Stopping half the length of the street short, looking around as he did so to make sure no Crown patrols were within sight, he pointed out the house.

DECORATED FOR LESS.

That does not sound courageous, but thousands of men have been decorated for doing less courageous things than that on battlefields. If that man of Dungarvan had been seen guiding me to the home of a known Sinn Feiner that night two lorry loads of them going along the road were attacked by some I. R. A. men.

Without putting up much of a June evening he stood a good chance of being roughly handled.

That June evening I sat in and heard the stories of men and women who had felt the heavy hand of the Crown. I did not afterwards depend on their words alone, although I implicitly believed them. The most convincing people I ever listened to in all my life were those sufferers in Ireland, I think. They could make you feel like going out and heaving a bomb at a Black and Tan yourself after listening to them.

I got three solid hours of Dungarvan history, that night, and in three hours earnest men and women who have had their souls tried can say a lot. There was not a light showing in the town as I came back to my inn at midnight.

There was a note of dread in the voice of the porter when he asked who was there. It was in the air to be careful of something. I was lighted to bed by candles, and in writing my rough notes before going to bed I found myself shielding the light of the candle from passing patrols.

Before ever I saw Dungarvan I had heard something of its history, as I had the history of many another town in Ireland. After that evening spent there I wanted to hear more of it because the working of the Terror in Dungarvan was typical of its workings in scores of small towns over there.

I wanted particularly to get more first hand information. So next morning early I went to hire a motor car to drive me around Dungarvan. But I could not hire one. A driver who took anybody around that country in a motor car would at once attract the attention of the barracks, and if he escaped the attention of the barracks a motor car would be too wide for safety on the roads thereabout.

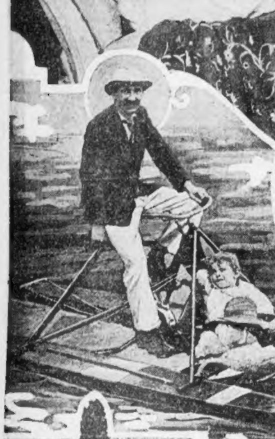
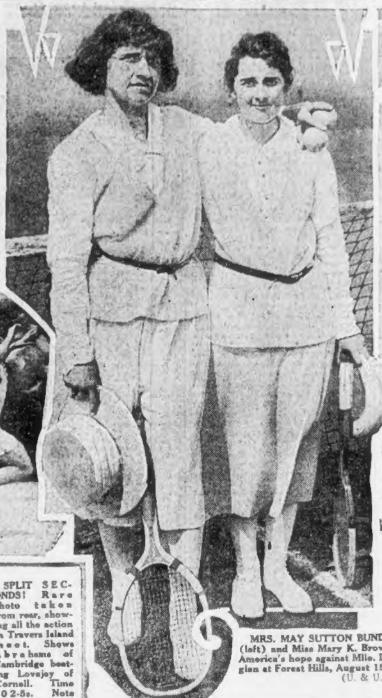
EXPERTS ARE GETTING DIZZY TRYING TO PICK BEAUTY PEACH

AT EASE! Mme. Karni-Pachofer, one of the most beautiful women in Vienna, will wed a Greek prince. She is one of the best dressed women in Europe. A quiet smoke with her pet pup at her side is her idea of an ideal home life. Note the new satin smoking jacket. (K.)



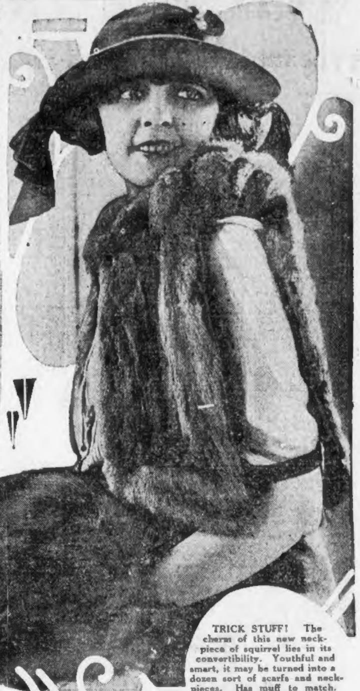
THE BIKE-O-PLANE! This ingenious Frenchman mounted a bicycle on the two pontoons, result—snappy boat. Seen any Sunday on the Seine. Baby likes to ride, too. Sprocket is geared direct to propeller. (U. & U.)

SPLIT SECONDS! Rare photo taken from rear, showing all the action in Travers Island meet. Shows Abrahams of Cambridge beating Lovejoy of Cornell. Time 10 2-5s. Note the similar strain of the legs. (W. W.)

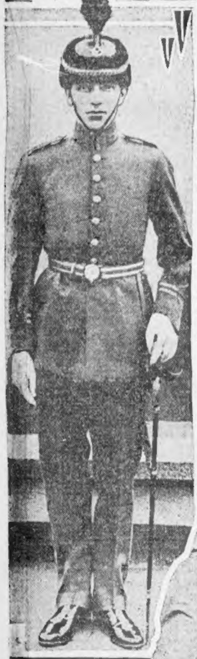


MRS. MAY SUTTON BUNDAY (left) and Miss Mary K. Browne, America's hope against Mlle. Lenglen at Forest Hills, August 15. (U. & U.)

SO LONG! Aquaplaning is one of the sports that the California sea beauties take delight in. Dangerous but thrilling. Above, the start of a race. (Int.)



TRICK STUFF! The charm of this new neckpiece of squirrel lies in its convertibility. Youthful and smart, it may be turned into a dozen sort of scarfs and neckpieces. Has muff to match. Very latest Fall fashion. Bound to be popular (U. & U.)

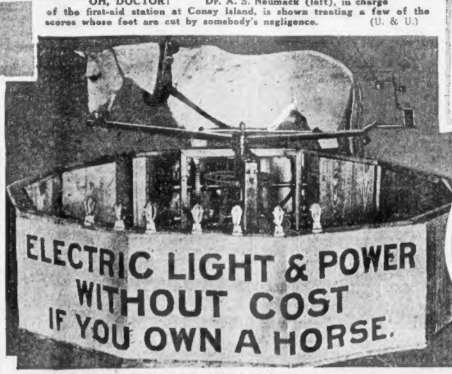


JOLLY SPIFFY, EH WOT? Yanks who served in the British Air Force will be thrilled to learn that this (left) is the new officers' dress uniform. Predominating colors are gold and blue. Helmet is of black leather trimmed with fur. Imagine this chappie on Tremont street! (Int.)

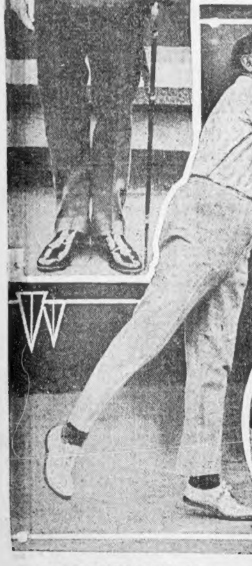
FRESH WATER BABY! Miss Clara M. Hardaker of No. 16 Perkins street, Worcester, wins $5 for this smart little photo. The pose, as well as the clarity of the picture, often determines the fate of a photo in the sea beauty contest. Clear photos only are desired. Address Pictorial Editor, Boston American. Send only your own photos, unless you have permission.

OH, DOCTOR! Dr. A. S. Neumack (left), in charge of the first-aid station at Coney Island, is shown treating a few of the scores whose feet are cut by somebody's negligence. (U. & U.)

LOST YOUR HUSBAND? Eugenie Dennis, sixteen, of Atchison, Kas., has uncanny power to read minds and locate lost articles since she was two. Otherwise she is mentally normal. High school graduate. (K. & H.)



SPARKS FROM DOBBIN! Through invention by Robert D. McCreary of Cincinnati the supposedly out-of-date horse can provide enough electricity in six hours to provide a week's power for a house. Special harness is attached to gears and when horse walks around power is made and stored. (Int.)

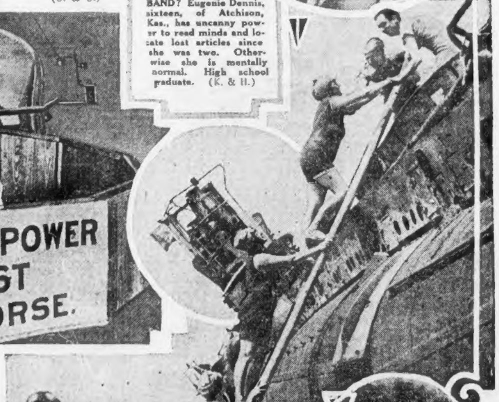


AMBASSADOR GEDDES (of England) is so worried over the alleged squabble between Lloyd George and Lord Northcliffe that he goes right out on his favorite court at Washington and "30 loves" for an hour or so. (K.)

HONEST, Miss Faye Parrish is THE most beautiful girl in Southern California. At least that's what the judges said. Gets a movie contract (U. & U.)

MORE BEAUTY! Artists make the best beauty judges, so nobody can dispute Miss Olive Alcorn's right to be crowned most beautiful model in California. Frank W. Cuprien, noted painter (left) (U. & U.)

PIGMENT! Mr. Whorf, painter of Winthrop pageant scenery, at work on the sands at Provincetown. An advanced pupil of George Hawthorne. He is painting a woman under a sunshade. Provincetown paintings are the "rage" just now. (U. & U.)



IF NANTASKET wants to keep its reputation as an up-to-date resort, it had better get one of these old German submarines for its sirens to change their one-piece suits in. Washed up on English beach. (Int.)

THE MILLS OF THE GODS! Sarah C. Cowen, from the petted heights of Baltimore society, dropped into the dregs in twelve years, a squanderer of $2,500,000. (Int.)

White's Annual August Furniture Sale

The Biggest Opportunity for Saving Money on Dependable Furniture that will come in 1921

More Than a Quarter of a Million Dollars' Worth of Furniture at Our Own and Manufacturers' Reductions

Preliminary to this sale we ourselves took losses in markdowns of more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Manufacturers needing money to tide them over the recent abnormal depression had to raise cash just as the biggest automobile manufacturer in the world did—by forcing sales at big price cuts. They are not likely to have to go through such an experience again. These facts explain the striking values in this Sale. That is why you should not judge by the low prices without seeing the furniture. That is why, if you have any idea of buying furniture this year, you cannot afford to miss the excellent furniture and the wonderful values presented in this sale. Our August Furniture Sales have been held for so many years and are so well and widely known that home makers, hotels and institutions realize that at White's they can get the biggest price advantages and at the same time be sure of the quality.

Arrangements may be made to hold furniture for 60 days at no additional charge.

FIGHTING BRAVES TAKE ON CHICAGO CUBS IN TWIN BILL

By NICK FLATLEY

Chicago, Ill., Aug 3—The Braves started out early yesterday to make the Cubs' latest record ten defeats in eleven games. The Jawn Evers have dropped eight of their last nine, and by winning a double header today the Mitchmen can boost the totals as per specification, and at the same time help their standing in the [illegible] race

[illegible] Pittsburgh, but the Pirate officials are worrying about the end in the race [illegible]

* * *

Our Braves really needed the rest for the long drive toward glory in the past few months has shot them up pretty much. Just now all four infielders are more or less crippled in their underpinning. Holke has bad ankles as well as a sore hand, which is the real answer to his hitting slump.

* * *

Ford has just about recovered from the smash that broke his nose, but he has a bruised hip [illegible] agony [illegible] course of a [illegible]

[illegible] left shin, and [illegible] about down [illegible] He needs a vacation, but there's nobody to fill in, so he isn't getting it. His injuries make [illegible] impossible, and for that reason he can't take the chances on the bases that are likely to win close ball games.

* * *

Tony Boeckel is mussed up a bit likewise, but that's the chronic condition of infielders at this part of the season, and the only grumble the Braves make comes when the showers make a double afternoon part of the program.

* * *

The Braves aren't hampered any [illegible] the Pirates, but they haven't the reserve [illegible] strength of the other contenders and consequently the regulars have to stick right on the job. The fact that they are anxious to, gives a really good idea of the gameness of the team.

* * *

The majority of the athletes figure that playing while hampered by injuries [illegible] Manager Mitchell hasn't been able to chain any of his performers to the bench. The players believe they have a real chance to win, and are unwilling to [illegible] their personal [illegible]

* * *

Manager Mitchell has been in conference here with President Heydler regarding some of the decisions that have been thrown at the Braves recently. There's no doubt that adverse rulings on the close ones has kept the team out of a practical tie for first place.

All the Braves [illegible] willing to [illegible] Hank was on the bench [illegible] Hank [illegible] manager

* * *

Alibi ball [illegible] blame defeat on the umpires, but the Braves this season have not been [illegible] They have been fighting their way through, and taking their upsets [illegible] energy toward [illegible]

* * *

There's no doubt that the class of the umpiring in the National League is inferior to the A. L. brand. It's hard to tell why, but it's a fact, just the same. Evans, Dinneen and the other Johnson officials get along with hardly an argument a series.

"Of course, I don't know that any of these men will apply for reinstatement, but if they do, the above at least are a few of the rules that will be enforced.

* * *

Just keep it in mind that regardless of the verdict of juries baseball is entirely competent to protect itself against crooks, both inside and outside the game."

"I have no comment to offer on the outcome of the baseball trial," said Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox. "However, Cicotte confessed to me that he had helped to throw the World's Series of 1919 and also implicated the other seven players, and until such time as Cicotte can explain to me that confession, I will have nothing to do with him or them."

Not Guilty Verdict For Sox Players

Chicago, Aug 3.—"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury that tried seven ball players and two alleged gamblers for conspiring to throw the 1919 World's Series for the benefit of a gambling syndicate

The ballplayers are Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson, Claude Williams, Chick Gandil, "Happy" Felsch, Swede Risberg and "Buck" Weaver. The alleged gamblers were David Zelcer and Carl Zork.

The case went to the jury at 7 p. m. after having been on trial nearly three weeks

George E. Gorman, assistant State's attorney, closed his argument with a demand for penitentiary sentences for the players. His demand followed the arguments of the defense [illegible] which [illegible] owners of the big league clubs and not the individual players were blamed for dishonesty in baseball.

Gorman denied the contention of the defense that it was not illegal to throw a ball game [illegible] amendment to [illegible] English [illegible]

STEVE O'DONNELL SAYS HE'S GLAD HE TRIED IT

Four Years of Suffering Overcome by Tanlac, Says This Boston Man — Eats Anything, and Feels Fine.

"Just as soon as I saw by the papers that Tanlac was on sale in Boston, I went right to the drug store and got me a bottle, and I'm mighty glad I did too," said Stephen O'Donnell, 15 Harcourt St., this city.

"For four years I suffered terribly from indigestion and actually ate my meals under a dread because I knew only too well what it would cost in pain and distress. I bloated all up with gas, my food just seemed to lie like a lump of lead right in the pit of my stomach, and heart burn gave me no end of trouble. I felt worn out and sluggish all the time, and never felt like working. I had dizzy spells and fearful blinding headaches.

"But Tanlac is fast making a new man of me. I'm now on my third bottle, and already have a fine appetite and can eat anything I want without a bit of trouble with my stomach. Tanlac has done me a lot of good and I'm glad to say a good word for it."

The food people eat does them no good [illegible] other disagreeable symptoms. If this condition is permitted to go on for an indefinite period the entire system becomes saturated with poisons and various [illegible]

Mr. O'Donnell's trouble was relieved by Tanlac simply because it toned up his vital organs and enabled him to digest his food properly. In fact there is no portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next it enables the weak, worn out stomach to thoroughly digest its food, permitting the nourishing elements to be converted into blood, bone and muscle.

Tanlac is distributed by International Proprietaries, Inc., and sold in Boston by all Liggett's drug stores.—Advertisement.

Says Smoking Is Bad for the Heart---You Can't Propose to a Girl and Smoke a Cigar at the Same Time

There are a lot of institutions which guarantee to cure you of the tobacco habit in [illegible]. We don't need these institutions. People will give up smoking of their own accord if the manufacturers keep on making the cigars and cigarettes they're putting on the market today.

Smoking is harmful, but hanging is also bad for you if you overdo it.

A cigar is nothing but an overgrown cigarette with a coat of tan.

It is hard for a lot of men to give up cigars—they're too fond of vegetables.

You wouldn't mind it so much if they'd give you a piece of corned beef with every cigar they sell you.

[illegible]

Smoke a cigarette and drop the ashes on the carpet and you'll keep the moths out of the house. Smoke a pipe and you'll keep everybody out of the house.

[illegible]

The reason some men smoke so much is because they're saving the coupons. They want to save enough coupons to get a free course in the anti-tobacco institute.

[illegible]

The only difference between the two is that the coupons will light easier than the cigars.

A lot of men [illegible] they're smoking [illegible] off smoking [illegible]

The anti-tobacco league is going about it in the wrong manner. They should take our matches away from us first.

Tobacco is bad for the heart. You can't propose to a girl and smoke a cigar at the same time.

She used to go through his pockets and take his change. Now she goes through his pockets and takes his cigarettes.

Cigarettes have been the downfall of many a young man. So have been ladders.

MUNICIPAL LINKS CONTEST AT WORCESTER

Eastern Title Meeting With Boston Entered on August 27

By Robert E. Harlow.

The second annual Eastern municipal links golf championship will be [illegible] Worcester, on Saturday, August 27.

It is likely that at least five cities will enter teams. Last year at Hartford, Boston, Worcester and Hartford were the only cities which started teams, but it is thought that this month Philadelphia, New York, Bridgeport and Buffalo may join in the championship, thus making it a real Eastern title meeting.

Philadelphia public links golfers who play at Cobbs Creek are claiming the Eastern municipal championship. The only thing the claim is based upon [illegible]

RAY

Ray Challenges the World

The New England Velie Company, Distributors for the Ray Battery, hereby openly challenge all other battery distributors in this locality to place their battery in competitive test against the Ray. This test will be to determine the durability of the various batteries, and will be the complete break-down experiment.

The purpose of this test will be to ascertain what battery is most effective as to long discharge, high impedance, rapid recuperation, and freedom from damage under high charging rate.

Battery men and the general public are invited to appear at these tests.

Rix Quarren, who begs Strelsa to marry him

Drawn by Charles Dana Gibson

Strelsa Leeds Who Reluctantly Chooses to Marry for Money When Her Heart Begs Her to Wed for Love.

Langly Sprowl, whom Strelsa has promised to wed.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED.

Dick Quarren, society idler and spendthrift, but clever and good looking, has fallen desperately in love with Strelsa Leeds. She has had one unfortunate matrimonial experience, and since her advent into New York high society has admirers by the score. Quarren meets her first at a masked ball given by Molly W[illegible]herly, wins an hour out of her life on a wager and refrains from kissing her, as he tells her he is eager to do. She tells him there can be nothing serious between [illegible] and she asks him to always [illegible] of her. Lyons hesitated a moment. Then he got back on the front seat and we drove off, but as we glided along I tried to make something out of our peculiar conversation. It might be interpreted two ways, as sign of a [illegible]

"Alone? Yes, I'm alone now. Why do you ask?" I replied, with undeniable malice.

"Oh, I thought some one might be there. Sure nobody is—an old man don't want to be interrupted when he's going to see his daughter for the first time in days. And that makes me run back on the [illegible] how you are, my dear?"

Shutting Out the Air

By Loretto C. Lynch

ON a warm day, in a New England University town I noticed recently that few of the homes boasted window or door screens. In the four hundred homes I looked at I found but two screen windows. In six cases the windows were opened, but no screens impeded the access of flies, mosquitoes and gnats. In every other case the windows were tightly shut.

In some cases the windows were beautifully curtained behind the highly polished window glass. In [illegible]

[illegible] Do you, Mrs. Housewife, belong to this class? Do you have a screen in every window? And if your rooms are particularly warm, how about getting some awnings?

Bachelor Girl's Reflections

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

THE average man knows exactly how to rule a woman—if she will only [illegible]

Thank heaven for henna! Gray hairs may be respected, but somehow that isn't precisely the emotion that a girl longs most to inspire in a man.

A man swallows flattery as easily and naturally as a baby swallows a button, and with just as little regard for the probable consequences.

The worst things that can happen to a woman at ten, to be without a playmate; at twenty, to be without a lover, at thirty, to be without a husband at forty, to be without henna, and, at fifty, to be with[illegible]

Those men who are [illegible] the new convict haircut MUST think that nothing can alter a woman's love!

If a man adores women, he is scoffed at as a silly sentimentalist; if he dislikes them, he is scorned as a brutal mysoginist—so what can the poor thing do?

In order to make a novel luridly interesting, it used to be necessary to paint the heroine's "past" in vivid colors; but nowadays you can [illegible] almost any girl's present in its natural hues, and get the same effect.

The only feeling that the unsolicited devotion of a woman arouses in a man is "that tired feeling."

When a Summer girl resolves to read something "improving" on her vacation, she spends an hour or so trying to choose amongst Spencer, Whitman, Strindberg and Shaw, and then just pick up "Sloppy Stories," tosses it in her grip and lets it go at that.

Of course, the average man OUGHT to know more than the average woman, considering that she feeds him everything!

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. Forbes

We all like winners. We particularly admire the man or concern that triumphs against all sorts of difficulties. We are always interested in knowing how it was done.

You'll agree that the business battle has been pretty hard during the last twelve months and that anyone who has been able to come out on top deserves lots of credit.

* * *

I have just received three more examples of concerns that refused to acknowledge it was impossible to do a big business in times of such depression and went ahead with such vigor and effectiveness that they have done more business than ever before.

At some stage in the history of every individual and every organization that has achieved conspicuous success there has come a testing time, a time when defeat seemed inescapable, a time when there was temptation to give up, a time when only supreme courage and titanic effort could stave disaster. Crises, like hurricanes, bowl over the weak but leave the strong standing. A hurricane of no mean severity has been sweeping over the business world during the last year. The mortality and the casualties have been enormous. To change the simile, the sea of business has been storm-swept and only stoutly-built, skillfully-navigated ships have been able to escape disaster and make progress.

* * *

Examples of success achieved in the teeth of the adverse financial, industrial and commercial winds of last year and this have been cited several times in this column. The response has shown that men like to learn of such achievements because the reading of them tends to revive drooping courage and to infuse fresh determination to battle with renewed energy.

* * *

How's this for an example of win out against odds in a line which apparently offered a minimum of encouragement for success? A friend who is thoroughly familiar with the facts writes:

"In Racine, Wisconsin, for many months the Hartmann Trunk Company was, and is, the only concern working full force on full time. There is a reason back of this, a reason that every manufacturer should jot down for future reference, ning out against odds in a line which business man some years ago when he said, 'to be successful, go North when the crowd goes South.' This simply meant to do things differently from the other fellow. That is what Hartmann did. When the other factories said there was no business and cut out advertising and sales effort, the Hartmann Trunk Company went to bat stronger than ever. They kept up their advertising in December, January, February, March, April, May and June. But that was not all.

"They came out with an entirely new kind of wardrobe trunk—built on absolutely new principles and out of new material—an all steel frame—a trunk without a nail in it. This necessitated new machinery, new methods of construction. This shows the foresight and courage with which Hartmann sought to win over an indifferent market. They were successful; their efforts were more than rewarded."

* * *

Here's another case. The Speakman Company of Wilmington, Delaware, which makes Speakman showers and fixtures, is working on full-time schedule with its full normal force. Asked how they have been able to maintain demand, the management gave chief credit to consistent advertising, to giving the fullest possible attention to the interests of the dealer, jobber and manufacturer, and to making a special "drive" on showers and special fixtures for the home and for institutions, both private and public. They add that they have always pioneered any new developments, and that they have taken special pains during the period of inactivity in general business to stimulate buyers' interest by bringing forward every special feature designed to increase the utility, desirability and attractiveness of their products. Furthermore, the labor problem has been handled in a way that has increased efficiency to such an extent that drastic wage cuts have not been found necessary.

* * *

William P. Ahnelt, president of the Pictorial Review Company writes:

"Your daily articles are inspiring, refreshing and stimulating. After reading them, every wide-awake man should be imbued with optimism and convinced that "full-speed ahead" should be the motto of every business. Unfortunately there are some business men so hopelessly pessimistic that their spirit of discouragement is spreading like a disease even to those ready to take a more optimistic view of business conditions.

"I wish to add concrete proof to your many examples of results of other business men, who backed up their convictions by action and push; in our business we have beaten all records since January, this year. We have taken our medicine, that is advertising, and this large amount of advertising has brought definite results in all departments."

* * *

After reciting the experiences of one courageous advertiser, he adds: "This proves that there is just as much money as ever in the country; that people are willing to buy, but that they must be induced.

"I wish every business man could read your articles."

* * *

Yes, brothers, the going is rough and we are sometimes tempted to lose heart. But, as we have repeatedly shown, success even in these trying times is not impossible if sufficient courage, sufficient intelligence and sufficient effort are exerted.

* * *

RAILS REACTED AND SUGARS DECLINED

Oils, Steels and Tobaccos Ruled Higher in an Active New York Session

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, with gains and losses about balancing. There was little change during the second hour in market tenor, although sugars weakened. Rails had reacted earlier. American Bosch Magneto sold at a record low during the forenoon and United Drug touched its previous low. Steels, oils and tobaccos ruled higher. Trading was active, first hour transactions approximating 190,000 shares. Call loans renewed at 5½ per cent. Foreign exchange was lower, demand sterling opening half a cent off at $3.55¾.

Gains ranged from fractions to nearly two points. Among strongest stocks were Sears Roebuck, General Asphalt, Atlantic Gulf, Canadian Pacific, Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, Union Oil and International Paper.

Weakest issues included General Electric, Industrial Alcohol, Car & Foundary and American Sugar. They were down a point or more.

SOON BECAME IRREGULAR.

While the market was firm at the opening, with small gains the rule, it soon became irregular. Rails started the slight reaction and about everything on the list was affected by increased offerings. United Drug and General Electric were among the weakest issues and also more active than usual. Fisk Tire sold at a record low. Canadian Pacific was the strongest rail and Studebaker led motors. Mexican Petroleum and Union Oil made the best showing among petroleum issues, while Sears Roebuck was a specialty that advanced a point. While early trading was of good volume it was confined in range. The professional element made the market and restricted operations to a comparatively few issues. The public remains indifferent to speculative opportunities presented by the list and investors are favoring bonds rather than stocks.

MONEY RISE A CHECK.

Although the result of temporary conditions, the advance of the call rate this week has checked bull operations. But as low as it was last week, demand for stocks was limited. Brokerage loans total the least in eight years and this indicates that speculation in securities is on the smallest scale for that period. But while the stock market is dullest business reports indicate an improvement in industries and commerce. It is slight, but enough to foster the hope that the corner of a long lane has been turned. The cotton crop will be the smallest in twenty-five years and that means a firmer market for that product. In fact, the situation is better for wool, rubber and several other commodities. The money outlook is of a character that gives a great deal of encouragement.

BUYING OF RAILS MARKS SHORT SESSION

By BROADAN WALL.

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

New York, Aug. 3.—The fact that the opening of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday was delayed three hours because of a fire in the building did not dampen the bullish enthusiasm entertained concerning the transportation shares which were active and strong throughout the two-hour session.

With the exception of a few specialties the industrial list also closed higher. Buying of the rails was most pronounced, purchases continued un to the close, final quotations being the best and indicating a continuation of the upward movement.

Resumption of purchases by American bankers for the account of the British government was given as the reason for the revival of strength in the transportation issues.

The British government is desirious of replacing the American railroad issued which British subjects turned over to it during the war. The English are not willing to climb for their favorite American issues, but the scarcity of stocks is forcing them to bid for the shares.

Dividend paying rails were the favorites, especially the Hill shares. Great Northern preferred advanced more than two points and at high figure showed a gain of about fifteen points from the recent low price established when rumors were current that the dividends of the Hill roads were in jeopardy.

Northern Pacific at its top figure was about nineteen points above the bottom quotation recorded on June 14 this year. Reports of earnings announced for June continue to show expansion over the same month last year.

Wall Street Briefs

Ore shipments from the head of the Great Lakes last month were 3,728,960 tons against 7,691,419 in July, 1920.

The Merritt Oil Corporation has deferred payment of the dividend due at this time.

The American Hide & Leather Co. took no action on the preferred dividend due at this time.

On July 31 the gross public debt of United States was $23,771,337,006, a decrease of $206,218,513.

July oil well completions totaled 1,706, a decrease of 365 from June. New production was 222,007 barrels, an increase 9,908.

On July 31 Victory notes outstanding July amounted to $3,858,241,150, and Treasury notes series "A," 1924, to $311,191,600.

The New York State stock transfer tax during July amounted to $380,857.

The Swift & Co. 7 perc net, 10 year gold notes were oversubscribed and the books have been closed.

Mitchell May, formerly manager of the bond department of Pynchon & Co., has become associated with F. J. Lisman & Co. as manager of their investment department.

COPPERS DOWN ON A FEW SALES

Boston Market Dull and Price Movement Mixed; Little Trading on Curb

At the opening of the Boston market many issues were unchanged and others had a mixed movement as to prices. The morning trend was toward a lower level and before noon most active issues had declines. Swift & Co. was the only packing stock at all prominent and it was up 1½ at its forenoon highest. It did not hold all the gain long. Other advances were fractional. United Drug declined 2, Agricultural Chemical common 1½ and Mexican Investment 1. Coppers were very quiet, but on a few transactions had a heavy tone. New England rails were steady.

Among stocks to make fractional gains were Boston Elevated, Copper Range, Island Creek, United Fruit, West End, Carson Hill and Nipissing. Small losses were shown by North Butte, Utah Consolidated, American Telephone, American Woolen preferred, American Pneumatic preferred, Libby and Amoskeag.

CURB WAS WEAK.

While the Curb market was dull and had a narrow price range, the tendency on this exchange was downward. Boston and Montana held the lead as usual. At the end of an hour it was off 3 cents at 75 cents and other declines included Alpha, 3 cents at 74 cents, Denbigh, ½ cent at 7½ cents; First National, 2 cents at 52 cents and Imperial ½ cent at 7½ cents. Arizona Silver was up 1 cent at 20 cents. Eureka had lost a 2 cent advance and Verde Mines had recovered a 1 cent loss.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Arlington tax rate is $29.90, an advance of $1.

President Andrew W. Preston of the United Fruit Co. will sail for Europe today to be gone for four or five weeks on business.

The Milton tax rate has been reduced from $21.60 to $21.10.

The Island Oil & Transport has discontinued shipments of oil from Mexico.

It is stated that directors of the Boston Wyoming Oil Co., controlled by the Midwest Oil Co., will ignore the dividend at this time.

Organization articles have been filed by the Loughridge Coal Company, Boston, capital $200,000; McKinnon Vacuum Trolley Harn Company, Holyoke, $50,000 preferred, 500 common shares, no par; L. L. Cook Brick Company, Bridgewater, $100,000.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Aug. 3.—In the face of poor cables the cotton market developed a good deal of firmness early today, opening unchanged to 11 points lower. It almost immediately advanced and by the end of ten minutes prices were up about 9 points over last night's close. Active support by Liverpool, the trade and Wall Street interests caused the strength. The South was the leading seller at the start. Opening prices were: October, 12.70; November, 12.92; December, 13.23; January, 13.12; March, 13.49; May, 13.50; June, 13.65 bid.

Bank Thanks Boston American for Aid in Run

In a formal statement issued Tuesday after the last depositor had been paid and the run on the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank had come to an end, President Evans of the bank thanked the newspapers of Boston for their "fair treatment of the whole situation."

"I wish particularly to thank the Boston American," he said. "That paper has shown, since the start of the trouble, a plain desire to aid the bank in its difficulty. Doubtless this was, in part, inspired by the knowledge that the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank was sound, but it would have been easy to distort the facts in the situation so as to make a bad matter worse.

"This was avoided most carefully, and I wish to thank the Boston American for all it has done."

Today the 4¼ per cent. bonds of the United States government sell in the neighborhood of what the British 2½ per cent. bonds sold sixteen years ago.

Today not a few high grade 7 per cent. bonds of American industrials and railroads sell for what 3½ or 4 per cent. bonds of the same character sold sixteen years ago.

The world has a convulsion at intervals. It always gets over the attack. It always will. The one it had in the 1914-18 period was fearful, but the patient is improving. When anything approaching normal is attained again you may expect bonds to sell somewhat near the level of 1905.

If that is so investors are likely to look back upon present times and sigh, for today is the golden period for the bond buyer.

If a Pennsylvania Railroad 3½ sold at 100⅝ in 1905, what will Pennsylvania 6½ or 7 command when times are settled again?

If British consols bearing 2½ per cent. interest sold for 86⅞ in 1905, where will United States 4¼s sell when affairs are normal?

SOME POSSIBILITIES.

If Illinois Central 3½s sold at 94¼ in 1905, what will Standard Oil 7s command some years hence?

Look at Northern Pacific, Great Northern, C. B. & Q. 4s that sold for 101 in 1905. The same roads sold 6½ bonds to the public recently for 95½.

If New York and Harlem 3½s sold above par in 1905 what do you think of U. S. Government 4¼ bonds today below 90?

Norfolk & Western 4s sold at 101½ in 1905. Today Norfolk & Western 6s sell at about 103.

Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha 6s sold at 136¼ in 1905. The 7 or 8 per cent. bonds of many governments sell at around 100 today.

You must remember there are offsets to the bargain now. Taxation today is higher than in 1905 and it will be high for years. That reduces the return. The world is on a somewhat different scale of prices for everything, money particularly. That counts. The conditions are not so sound as they appeared in 1905 and yet two years after 1905 came the panic of 1907. As taxation comes down and living costs come down bonds go up. That is automatic.

The prudent investor has only two things to consider in relation to bonds. 1, are they sound; 2, are they cheap? Good, sound bonds are remarkably cheap today.

Railroad Items

The Baltimore & Ohio has filed an application issue $2,447,000 of its Toledo-Cincinnati division first lien and refunding mortgage 6 per cent. bonds to be pledged as collateral.

Illinois Central Railroad has obtained authority to issue and sell at not less than 93.75 per cent. of par accrued interest $8,000,000 of 15-year, 6½ per cent. secured gold bonds.

Idle freight cars totalled 555,168 on July 23, a reduction of about 10,000 from July 15.

The Illinois Utilities Commission has authorized the Illinois Central to issue $15,860,000 bonds for improvements already made.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe handled 29,181 cars in the July 29 week as compared with 29,267 for the corresponding week of last year, a decrease of 86.

The Atchison road reports gross decreased $735,723 in June and that it gained $4,365,042 in net.

For 1920 the Philadelphia and Norfolk reports a deficit after taxes of $1,004,197.

REVIVAL WILL REQUIRE TIME, SAYS EVANS

Financial Expert Advises Not Too Much Hopefulness for Fall Boom

By C. B. EVANS

Chicago, Aug. 3.—A rain that lets corn down a notch or two and dampens the atmosphere of the speculator has not chilled the spirits of the investor.

A large number of people are convincing themselves that the turn has come in this country and they set up some pretty good arguments for their case. No doubt the Autumn will show us some improvement, but the trouble with many of our calculations is an insufficient allowance of time for any achievement. We think in short jumps, not realizing how slow the processes of nature are, forgetting, for example, how long it has taken us to develop from the chimpanzee stage.

MUST HAVE TIME.

The revival in the Fall is more likely than not to be one of a series of incidents which will make a good record if you give it time enough. A large number of commodities have reached what we may probably consider low points, but a lot more have got to come along in order to make much of a crowd. And then most of us are able to make a good forecast of business or a rise in a security, but most of us also are commonly wrong as to the time when the event shall happen.

Hence the necessity of a good supply of ready capital to cover any possible period of waiting, or any adverse happening on the way. Tuesday so good a stock as International Harvester lost its footing on 73, slipping back a point and a quarter in a few minutes. That small incident means among other things that the friends of that property do not expect anything very pleasing in its business for a considerable time, say a year or two. Its productions are made largely of steel, and steel is one of the things that have not yet reached bottom. Accordingly such of its machines as are now in store will presumably be of smaller value not long hence than now.

BOSTON'S WOOL SALE.

The record of security prices is made primarily by the performance of the merchandise markets. They are not doing well, as a general rule, and must still have a pretty large aggregate of high cost goods thrown on them.

One example is the sale of government wool that is to be held in Boston this week. The government, fortunately for the public, is able to carry its merchandise surplus for an indefinite period and thus that surplus can be let out little by little, saving the markets any shock. Some of the markets are now fairly free from the government menace. This is true of many classes of fabrics.

In the West there has been for some weeks a certain pause in the trade but the authorities say that activity will begin this month and run through September and October. Manufacturers are also telling their customers to hurry up with their purchases because the tariff provided for by the bill now under consideration will put prices up. It is interesting to note that even in merchandise there are sudden slumps such as has characterized the stock market. That is illustrated by the recent sharp decline in denims. It is believed that hereafter such incidents in the fabric trade will be of infrequent occurence.

SWIFT NOTE SUCCESS.

The success of the Swift note sale is the latest and one of the most emphatic illustrations of the good supply of capital for investment. The oldest heads in the trades are astonished at the readiness with which good securities find their way into the hands of investors. It is a cheering demonstration of the large storage of wealth in the hands of people of moderate means.

If, as many think, the rates for money are to go still lower, intending investors should lose no time in picking up good bonds or stocks, for every fraction taken off the rate for money adds to the value of securities now paying the large percentages forced by the war. The yield on the Swift issues, 7⅜ per cent., is less than such a security would have commanded only a few months ago, perhaps even a few weeks ago.

We can all remember how many issues of fairly strong corporations were marketed on a basis of 7 to 9 per cent. There will be plenty of new issues and most of them will be for the purpose of repairing damage done to the borrower by the events of the past two years, but if one may judge by the present temper of the investing public the securities will go well. Evidently the bottom of the American money barrel has not yet been reached.

Boston Commerce Decreased

There was a great decrease in Boston's foreign business during the fiscal year ended with June. The aggregate value of merchandise handled at this port in that month this year was $12,156,048, compared with $14,903,139 in May, while a year ago June commerce totaled $59,569,774. Boston export business reached the peak of $48,000,000 in June, 1919, and amounted to only $3,195,097 in June, 1921. Last year June exports were valued at $19,759,805. As to imports, in June this year only $8,990,951 worth of foreign merchandise came in through the port, against $11,116,338 in the previous month. Incoming goods for June, 1920, were appraised at $39,749,969.

July Incorporations

Incorporations in Massachusetts in July this year totaled but 176, the smallest number for any month since November last. The July total compares with 187 in June, 197 in May, 234 in April, 249 in March, 194 in February and 203 in January. In July last year 205 charters were granted. In seven months this year the total number of new charters was 1,465. In the first seven months of 1920 the total was 1,891, it was 1,444 in the seven months ended July, 1919, 974 in the first seven months of 1918 and 1,412 in the corresponding period of 1917.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

By MONITOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—In view of the fact that the opening of the stock exchange was delayed until 1 o'clock on account of fire, the turn-over of approximately 200,000 shares for the two hour session is indicative of a fair amount of activity. The rails furnished the chief feature of strength, and several issues made new high levels for the present upward movement. The Hill stocks were particularly strong and Great Northern Preferred advanced 2½ points. Southern Pacific, Atchison Canadian and Union also displayed marked firmness. Something of a reactionary tendency developed in the motor group, with both Studebaker and Chandler subjected to selling pressure. The steels, which showed some heaviness in the first hour of trading, developed strength toward the close and advanced sharply. U. S. Steel touched 76. Both Crucible and Bethlehem Steel B were strong.

SPECIALTIES were influenced by their individual position. American Hide and Leather Preferred responded to the good statement covering operations for the second quarter. Short covering was responsible for a rally in Virginian Carloina Chemical, notwithstanding rumors of a favorable statement to be issued in the near future. United Drug and Fiske Tire were unred presure.

ASIDE from the rails, the market shows a disposition to drift. The industrials are confronted by numerous problems relating to production and distribution, with labor costs governing the first item and reduced buying power, particularly among the farmers, operating against profitable disposal of output.

PERMISSION has been granted by the I. C. C. to the Illinois Central Railroad to issue and sell at not less than 93.75 per cent. of par $8,000,000 of 6½ per cent. secured gold bonds of 15-year 6½ per cent. secured gold bonds, pledging as collateral security for the proposed bonds $8,225,000 of Illinois Central Refunding mortgage 4 per cent. gold bonds and $3,820,000 of Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Joint first refunding mortgage 5 per cent. bonds.

THE Denver & Rio Grande Railroad has passed out of existence, and the title has been transferred officially to the New Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad. The property is now under the operating control of Joseph H. Young, president, formerly president of the Norfolk & Southern. No changes of personnel are contemplated for the present, either in Denver or in New York, and in the latter offices unfinished business of the old company as well as the financial affairs of the new company will be transacted.

LOANS outstanding to Wall Street brokers are now at the lowest point in at least eight years. In some banking quarters it is held that brokers' loans may aggregate $500,000,000, but there are many bankers who believe that the total is considerably below this level. At the same time in 1919 the aggregate of brokers' loans was apparently $1,750,000,000, that level being the peak of Wall Street credit demand. This liquidation of brokers' borrowings is reflected in the easy money rate at present obtaining in New York and is one explanation of the 3½ per cent. money rate which was in effect for a short time last week.

AMERICAN HIDE AND LEATHER surplus after charges and taxes for the quarter ended June 30 was equivalent to $2 per share on the $12,548,300 outstanding preferred. This showing compares with a deficit of $810,697 for the six months' period ending in June, 1920.

AS a cheerful reaction from the showing made by several of the rubber companies it is announced that the Lee Tire & Rubber Corporation is operating at 100 per cent. capacity, turning out 2,000 tires a day and is considerably behind on its booked orders. Net profits for the six months ended June 30, after all charges and Federal taxes, were approximately $250,000 or $1.66 per share on the 150,000 shares of no par capital stock. Lee Tire has made a very good recovery, as its first quarterly showing was not especially good. Despite this, the profits for the half year indicate an annual rate of about $500,000, equal to a trifle more than $3.25 per share as compared with last year's actual profits of $328,533 or $3.18 a share. The company is in a very good financial condition. Bank borrowings are about $300,000 against which the company has about $700,000 cash on hand, and it is believed that Lee will be entirely clear of the banks at the end of the current year.

ANOTHER contrast to the stream of dismal reports is represented in the advance estimates of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co. of the sales for the seven months ended July 31, as these are placed at about $10,500,000 by officials. In 1920 sales amounted to $34,547,000, and while sales so far this year are at the rate of $18,000,000 for the year, this showing would be entirely satisfactory, and as a matter of fact would be somewhat surprising, when operating results of other industrial companies are considered. The past three or four years have been abnormal periods for this company. In 1915, also an abnormal year, gross sales were $25,162,000, while present sales would indicate a final business of $18,000,000. The agricultural companies figure on their heaviest business during the crop reaping period, and therefore it is more than likely that the last five months of the year will show a big improvement over the per month rate for the first seven months, in which case it would not be surprising if the 1921 sales approximated those of 1918.

EXPORTS of crude and refined oils for the month of June amounted to 204,604,039 gallons, valued at $26,584,274. This represents a decline of about 22,000,000 gallons and 20,000,000 from the same month in 1920, but at the same time June exports gained 3,000,000 gallons over those of May. There is very little foreign demand for lubricants, while shipments of gasoline showed a decline of nearly 30,000,000 gallons from June, 1920.

WHILE no new price schedule has been announced by the Steel Corporation it is reported that the leading producers are meeting the lower prices which are being quoted by the independents on many steel products, and it is also reported that letters have been sent out by the corporation during the past week to customers quoting prices on various products which are from $3 to $10 per ton below the official list announced on July 7. In one case, at least, the corporation is going the independents one better by quoting tin plate per 100-pound box at $5.25, while the independents are holding the level of $5.50. Many of the latter are already reducing their prices to meet the corporation's level. The official tin plate price on July 7 list, issued by the Steel Corporation, was $5.75 per box.

CABLED reports indicate that the German Reichsbank has obtained a further credit of 50,000,000 gold marks in Amsterdam, which makes a total of about 250,000,000 gold marks which have been obtained from Holland so far to apply on reparations payments.

COLLAR PRICES FALL TO $1.90 A DOZEN

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Men's collars probably will retail hereafter at two for 35 cents, according to reductions made by collar manufacturers here today following the announcement of a cut in the wholesale prices from $2.10 to $1.90 a dozen.

Cluett, Peabody & Company led the cut with the United Shirt & Collar Company, Van Zandt, Jacobs & Company and the George P. Ide & Company announcing similar reductions immediately afterward. This is the second cut in wholesale prices since the war.

July Treasury Receipts

During July United States Treasury ordinary receipts were $209,068,454, against $230,366,525 for July, 1920. Ordinary disbursements were $321,818,569, against $306,501,839, and the excess of such disbursements over such receipts was $112,750,114. On August 1 the Treasury had a net balance of $230,714,447.

Joplin Ore Prices

Zinc and lead ore prices remained unchanged last week in the Joplin, Mo., market. Zinc blende ores brought $20 to $21 for 60 per cent. zinc, while lead ores brought $47.50 for 80 per cent. lead. Shipments were small and production limited.

Outstanding Liberty Bonds

It is reported at Washington that at the end of July outstanding Liberty bonds totaled $15,232,646,650. Divisions were as follows: First Liberty loan, $1,952,225,500; Second Liberty, $3,315,919,350; Third Liberty, $3,610,574,600; Fourth Liberty, $6,353,927,200.

Copper Quotations

The latest quotations for electrolytic copper for domestic consumption are 12 cents a pound delivered for August and 12¼ for September with a greater inclination appearing to quote 12 cents upon August-September split deliveries.

Last Year's Lumber Cut

This country's lumber cut in 1920 was slightly larger than in 1919. Reports from 927 large mills give their total cut for last year as 16,709,115 M feet in 1920, as against 16,254,812 M feet during 1919—an increase of 2.4 per cent.

Corporation Reports

The Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Company reports for the quarter net after interest, taxes, etc., of $100,071, against $790,253 in the like period of 1920; six months' net was $571,430, against $1,355,217 in the corresponding 1920 period.

The Jones Brothers Tea Company, Inc., reports June sales of $1,392,942, against $1,749,889 in June a year ago. For year to date sales aggregated $8,557,185, against $9,836,435.

July sales by Montgomery, Ward & Co. totaled $2,508,702 less than for the like 1920 month, while the decrease in seven months was $25,142,761.

For the June quarter the American Hide & Leather Company reports surplus of $251,644, after charging out repairs, interest on loans and reserves for taxes, and a charge of $77,371 for depreciation. This compares with a deficit of $810,697 for the quarter ended June 30, 1920, and a deficit of $1,210,383 in the first quarter of 1921.

LISBON SWEPT BY REVOLT, IS REPORT

Portuguese Army Said to Be Occupying Strategic Points

By International News Service.

London, Aug. 3.—A rumor is current at Vigo, on the Spanish-Portuguese frontier, that a revolution has broken out at Lisbon, said a Reuter dispatch from Madrid today.

The Portuguese army was reported to have occupied strategic points of the capital.

Direct messages from Lisbon, received here prior to the report of the uprising, said that extensive precautions were being taken to cope with an outbreak.

RIDER WILL LASSO GIRL FILM RECRUIT

A man on horseback swinging a lasso will interrupt the festivities of the Boston Arena Thursday night for a few moments. The man is Jack Hoxie, the western movie star, and he proposes to lasso among the dancers a young lady who looks to him as if she might be a movie recruit.

The girl who is roped will be given an opportunity to appear in the movies in Hoxie's company if she desires.

This is the most spectacular feature ever arranged for a local dance.

PAGEANT AT PLYMOUTH POSTPONED BY STORM

Plymouth, Aug. 3.—The big historical pageant, "The Pilgrim Spirit," which was to have had its seventh performance last night, was postponed until Thursday evening on account of rain. All tickets for last night are good for the performance on that evening, according to an announcement by Thomas Jackson, chairman of the press committee.

READ CAREFULLY SONG TITLE TEST RULES

Following Regulations Govern All Points in Great $6,000 Trial of Skill

The Boston American Songs of the World Title Test is a test of skill and judgment open to all readers of the Boston American, irrespective of age, living in any city or town in New England or Canada.

Two hundred and twenty cash awards will be given by this newspaper to its readers who submit the largest percentage of correct titles to the sixty pictures to be published one each day consecutively (Sundays excepted) in the Boston American.

All employes of the Boston American and their families are absolutely barred from participating in the awards.

The test will consist of 60 pictures, each representing the title of a well-known song, to be printed one each day in the Boston American; the first picture on Wednesday, June 8, 1921.

Participation in any other contest which has been run, which is now running or which may be run by the Boston American will not debar anyone from entering this test.

Every participant or any or all members of a family will be allowed to submit one set of pictures, but each set must contain only ONE TITLE to each picture, and no participant shall be entitled to more than one award and not more than one award shall be given in any one family.

Each and every title must be neatly written or printed on the coupon furnished by the Boston American; or on a page of some book form by itself, accompanied either by the picture furnished by the Boston American, or a pen or pencil copy thereof, and must have the name, residence, etc., of the participant on each title blank.

Do not send your title in "list" form, i. e., do not write titles under one another on a piece of paper.

In case there are not complete sets of correct titles, awards will be given to the person submitting the nearest correct solutions, giving weight to skill and judgment.

In case of a tie awards will be made on the basis of neatness, judgment and accuracy, but if the tie cannot be decided in that way the tied participants will receive similar awards.

Under no circumstances should participants send in their titles before the end of the Test, as any sent in before the last picture is printed will not be considered. KEEP your titles from day to day and at the end of the Test arrange them in numerical order and then send them in all together at one time.

Time will not be a factor in making the awards. The first titles sent in after the Test closes will stand no better than the last submitted.

All titles must be delivered to the Boston American title headquarters, at No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass., either by mail or in person within the specified time limit which will be announced later.

All envelopes or packages containing titles must be legibly addressed as follows: "Song Title Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass. P. O. Box 239," and each envelope or package must bear the name and address of the sender legibly written or stamped on the upper left-hand corner.

As all pictures in the Test will contain written or printed matter, if mailed, it is absolutely necessary that the packages be fully prepaid at postal letter rates, as mail of this character goes to the postoffice as first-class matter. The Boston American reserves the right to refuse to consider any sets of titles on which charges for postal delivery are not fully prepaid.

There will be no title or answer book to buy. Lists of Song Titles will be printed in the Boston American. The list appearing will contain among others the correct titles.

Participants who desire further information should address their inquiries to the Song Title Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass. Questions will be answered as far as possible through the columns of the Boston American. If participants desire personal replies, they should enclose sufficient postage for such a reply, or they may phone Main 5180 or call in person.

The Boston American reserves the right to make any change in or addition to these conditions that it may deem necessary for fairly and properly conducting the Test, and the decision of the Boston American Song Title Editor on any question which may arise will be absolutely final, and the entry of a participant is a complete acceptance of all conditions and regulations now made or to be made.

LEOPOLD MORSE STAFF PLAN OUTING TOMORROW

The annual outing of the Leopold Morse Company employes will be held at Norumbega Park tomorrow. Everyone at the big Adams square store will be there but the watchman, and plans are laid for a royal good time.

The employes will go to the park in special cars leaving shortly before noon. There will be a baseball game, track and field events and other sports. The best all round athlete in the organization will be given the E. J. Goulston cup. Dancing and canoeing will occupy the attention of those not engaged in the sports.

RAY COMPANY IN BATTERY TEST CHALLENGE

Firm to Place Its Product Against All Comers in Two-Day Trials

"The Ray Battery Company challenges the world in a competitive test to be held by Boston distributors at No. 80 Brookline avenue, Boston, opposite Red Sox ball park, tomorrow and Friday," says A. J. Shorey.

"We invite all battery service stations and battery manufacturers in New England to place their batteries in open competition with the Ray. We also invite all interested parties to come in and see this test.

"On Monday and Tuesday of this week electro-chemists of the Electrical Institute subjected automobile storage batteries to the most exacting tests known to their science.

"These tests were made at the instance of the Ray Battery Company of Ypsilanti, Mich.," continued Mr. Shorey, "and are in reality the climax of a long series of similar trials made in all parts of the country during the past year.

"Officials of the company have arranged these tests in order to prove their battery. They are firm in their conviction that its remarkable performance in Boston will add emphasis to its long record of remarkable success in laboratory experiments and in actual service during the past year.

"Interest in the tests is general among battery manufacturers and auto-motive engineers, who expect that the report of these experiments will clear up many contested points in battery construction and operation."

The Truth About the Dye Trust

It Didn't Get the Embargo It Demanded

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

The Dye Trust got its tariff, and that is all right. But the Dye Trust didn't get the embargo it wanted. And that is all right, too.

The Dye Trust will be right back in Washington, lobbying for reconsideration, and it must be watched every minute.

The basis of the Dye Trust is the Chemical Foundation.

The Chemical Foundation is one of those organizations which used the camouflage of excessive patriotism to shield its operations for profit. To begin with, the assets of the Chemical Foundation were 4,500 patents and several hundred trade-marks seized by the Alien Property Custodian. The Alien Property Custodian handed the valuable German property over to a corporation, which consisted of his assistant and subsequent successor, Francis A. Garvan, as president, and five members of the sales committee of the Custodian's Department—George L. Ingraham, Otto T. Bannard, Cleveland H. Dodge, B. Howell Criswold, Jr., and Ralph Stone.

As the Advisory Sales Committee, these gentlemen led the Alien Property Custodian to sell the chemical patents to themselves and to Mr. Garvan, then Assistant Custodian. Acting upon this unselfish and patriotic advice, the Alien Property Custodian patriotically sold the patents and trade-marks to his advisers for $250,000, though they were worth many times that.

Having thus patriotically obtained the goods, the patriotic organizers, who had incorporated under a Delaware charter—Delaware permitting incorporators to do anything to stock issues short of murder—proceeded to put out $400,000 of preferred stock, patriotically keeping the voting power in the common stock and impounding this in a voting trust, consisting of the five patriotic sales advisers who had recommended the sale of the patents to themselves and Mr. Francis A. Garvan.

The Chemical Foundation now has the impudence to ask Congress to put an embargo on all dyes and make the Dye Trust an absolute monopoly—on the ground of patriotic duty!

The Dye Trust's arguments are as suspicious as its patriotism. In one breath it claims that the whole business of dyes is less than $25,000,000 annually, so a monopoly couldn't hurt much, and in the next breath claims that the dye business is the master key to $2,000,000,000 worth of business, so that if Germans are permitted to sell dyes in our markets they can either compel the payment of enormous profits or else choke our industries to death. To this they add that unless the Dye Trust is given an absolute monopoly of the dye business, its members will lose $450,000,000 investment.

The Dye Trust should send its mathematicians to the cobbler shop. Their arithmetic is full of holes and needs half-soling, at least.

We congratulate Representative Frear and the other members who knocked the dye embargo out of the House Tariff schedules. The time has come to put an end to these schemes of exploitation, cloaked in the garb of and disgracing the name of 100 per cent. Americanism.

The Love of Standing Still

The Mass of Men Do Not Want to Be Reformed

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

"Law," said Sir Henry Maine, "rests not on contract but on status."

The first purpose of government was not to secure justice but to prevent change.

Self-preservation is the first instinct, and people early found out that the safest thing is always to go along precisely as they had been going along.

Hence the young man is shocked to discover, when he starts out to reform the world, that the one thing the mass of men do not want is to be reformed.

That is why civilizations get stuck, halt and disintegrate. Stagnation is the rule of the world and progress the exception, says Walter Bagehot.

When men have worked out a kind of government or of belief or conduct, any kind, they exclaim: "Don't touch it! It may be poor, but it's better than none, and if you try to better it you may break it."

In early history originality was a crime. A man that proposed to tinker with the government, or improve the accepted religion, was hanged as a traitor or roasted as a heretic.

Every improvement in the condition of mankind has been fiercely resisted.

Even today we can hardly understand any public question until we reduce it from reason to prejudice. Even patriotism, conceived of as a noble living for the common good, is sneered at as a thin idealism. Precedent, prejudice and partisanship confound all our judgments.

That Difficult Tax Question

Don't Discourage ALL Spending

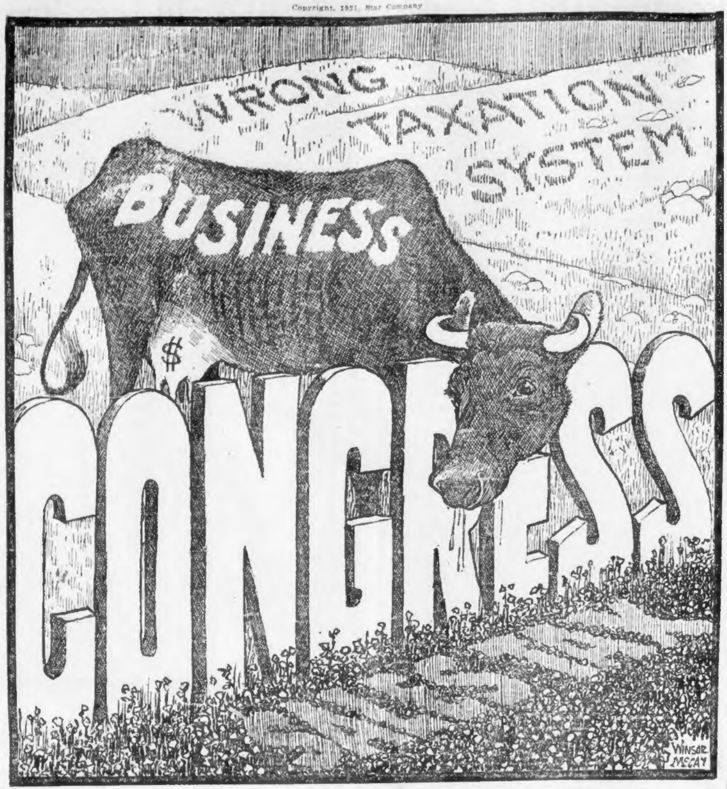
Copyright, 1921, Star Company

Mr. Mills of New York, in Congress, proposes "a tax on all expenditures for personal living and family purposes." There are some good points in the proposed tax, exemptions of various kinds. Mr. Mills points out that this would "exempt from surtaxes all income saved and invested." There is the rub. Men that save and invest from their incomes tens of millions a year, the incomes being so enormous that the owners can't spend them, will pay no tax on the millions thus accumulated. Is it really desirable that men should take in scores of millions a year and pay no tax on such accumulations to the Government that protects them in their property?

And would it be a good thing for the country just now to discourage buying, and thus discourage industry and employment by taxing the man that spends and puts his money in circulation, putting a premium on hoarding? Just "the right taxation" is not so easy to find, especially when you are trying to find something that will just exactly please the men with the biggest incomes—which is just what they are looking for now.

Let Down the Bars

Copyright, 1921, Star Company



BUSINESS has been taxed lean by inexpert legislation. Like the poor cow in the picture, its udder is running dry. Yet there is plenty of pasturage if wise laws would let down the bars. The sales tax, for instance.

Results to Date of Prohibition

"What Has Prohibition Actually Accomplished to Date?" asked William Randolph Hearst editorially in the Boston American of July 2. One hundred dollars will be paid for the best answer of not more than 150 words received before August 15.

Clean Birthright

Editor Boston American:

Prohibition has taken from the government an income of millions—blood money, barter from tears of abused wives and destitute children. Has put thousands out of employment—whose work was to manufacture poison which steals the brain and manhood, even murders, which deserves capital punishment. Is responsible for crime, lawlessness, and labor troubles, just as firearms are responsible for suicides, and autos for Sabbath breaking.

Has showed up that class who has no respect for the country's laws, and revealed the laxity of those who should enforce laws. Has destroyed personal freedom, as we remove matches from an ignorant child's grasp.

But to those citizens who put America's laws before a bestial appetite, it has already brought prosperity in business, political, religious and social life, and paved the way to a clean birthright and incomprehensible blessings for the coming generations.

JENNIE LITTLE.

Wit and Wisdom

A lot of people never stop worrying about going to the poorhouse until they get there.

One thing those Blue Law scouts ought to discover is who put the "sin" in raisin.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Fatima, Sultana of Kabul, arrived, bringing over with her Mohammed Hashim Khan, Mohammed Azim Khan and Mohammed Akbar Khan. But what we are mostly interested in these hot days is whether or not she brought over Beer Khan.

Why?

Pet Peeves of Patient People

WHY do they make you peel your own potatoes at a boarding house when you are in a hurry?
—STRAIGHT JAWS.

WHY do all the boys who are unable to sing anything spend most of their time practicing "Peggy O'Neil"?—J. W.

WHY will a street car conductor spend five minutes giving the double "O" to a transfer presented by a kid?
O. H. M.

WHY call a farmer a "hick"?

INTERESTED IN YOUR WORK?

If your boss has made a decision in regard to a piece of work, the performance of which in his way you think means a loss of time and otherwise undesirable, you ought to feel free to suggest this thought to him,

Not in the spirit of fault-finding or to impress him with the fact that you are wiser than he may think, but by way of common interest you should feel like conferring with him and giving him the benefit of any knowledge you may possess.

If you have a boss who will not take a suggestion in good faith your boss is not much of a man.

The big, successful man wants and even seeks suggestions.

He likes to have his men think; he appreciates it when men are interested enough to consider their work in the light of the best instruction they can get, with the idea of working out improvement.

The largest firms today are soliciting advice from the employe.

The man who has a practical hand in producing a piece of work is in a position to see and understand things incidental to the work which no one else could know.

Take sufficient interest in your work to think about it.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

DEATH! I know not what room you are abiding in,
But I will go my way,
Rejoicing day by day,
Nor will I flee or stay
For fear I tread the path you may be hiding in.

Death! I know not if my small barque be nearing you;
But if you are at sea,
Still there my sails float free,
"What is to be will be,"
Nor will I mar the happy voyage by fearing you.

Death! I know not what hour or spot you wait for me;
My days untroubled flow,
Just trusting on I go;
For, oh! I know, I know
Death is but Life that holds some glad, new fate for me.

HE KNEW

The talk had turned on the subject of the arrival in this country of Professor Einstein.

"What's all this here talk he's started about relativity?" said an old man.

"It's a new complaint of some kind, I'm thinking," answered his companion.

"Not so very new, neither," said a listener. "I've suffered from it, I reckon, ever since me mother-in-law's been me mother-in-law."

STRANGE FACTS NO. 1

No one has yet played "Old Black Joe" on a shoe horn.

CAN YOU IN PRACTICE LOVE YOUR ENEMIES?

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

CAN you love your enemies? This is meant to be a personal query. Honestly, can you?

This is one of those fine sentiments, easily professed. But practiced? By saints—and, perhaps, by you!

If you are, indeed, able to love your enemies, you are not necessarily a saint; but you are, at heart to that extent, a wise person, and you know how to conserve your spiritual substance.

Its votaries claim the superiority of the new dispensation over the old, because of a teaching attributed to Jesus Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, etc., etc.

Do You Do It?

Can you do that? Honestly, can you? And do you?

As a matter of fact, the old testament rivals the new in commanding chivalrous treatment of one's enemies. For instance, in the twenty-fifth chapter of Proverbs you find this:

"If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink: for thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head, and the Lord shall reward thee."

It is a question just which is the more difficult demand: to love one's enemy or to do the deeds of love to one's foe?

It is evident, from these citations, that both Christianity and Judaism impose upon their followers the high spiritual obligation to return good for evil, by requiting hatred with love.

In a way, that seems to place a premium upon cussedness. A practical person might easily argue with himself: If I give love to my foes, what better have I to give to my friends?

True, if active loving is implied: The proverbialist is right, you may say, to enjoin the helping of one's enemy when he is in distress. But, under normal conditions, you rightly want to distinguish between foes and friends, by giving favor and association to those who love you.

The answer is: That, even then, you will—if you are wise—maintain a friendly attitude towards all, even towards your enemies. Otherwise you give them a power over you to which they are not entitled!

If you allow your enemies to poison your spirit with hatred, you yourself give them a victory which, without your aid, they cannot win.

If, even in the presence of your enemies, or in the mere thought of them, you retain unspoiled triumph; and, to that extent, you have defeated their enmity by proving it powerless!

At least, if you cannot attain the level of love towards your enemies, you can avoid falling to the depth of hatred!

Surely, you can achieve indifference, and thus plant your feet at the cross-roads of love!

And, really, why shouldn't you love your enemies? They help you so much!

Current Proverbs

Our homely, current proverbs are wise with that revelation quite as much as the ancient Book of Proverbs. For instance, they say that every knock is a boost. By that token, your every knocker is a booster.

Then there is the common prayer to be saved from your friends, seeing that you yourself can take care of your enemies. Yes, indeed! and even without fighting them!

If we are at all wise, we accept enmity both as a challenge to our power and as a tribute to our caliber. That is what we mean, when we say of a strong man, that we love him for the enemies he has made!

One of the saddest and one of the commonest of the many types of insanity is the persecution mania, which makes the victim imagine that even those nearest to him have turned against him.

Conversely, one of the surest proofs of a strong mind and a healthy spirit is to refuse to recognize enmity, and to expect every one to be your friend, because you face the world with a friendly countenance.

Can you love your enemies?

Of course you can—by thinking them out of existence!

GREAT NEED OF RUSSIA IS WORLD TRADE

By Joseph Irwin France,

U. S. Senator from Maryland.

(Copyright, 1921, by the Baltimore Sun.)

The following is the seventh and last letter from Senator France, written just before he entered Russia. He was the first American to be admitted into that country in many months.

BERLIN, June 28 (By Mail).—Tonight, almost four weeks from the time I applied to the Russian office in London for permission to enter Soviet Russia, I leave for Riga, in Latvia, from which leads the most likely route into Moscow.

Disappointed as I was at being unable to enter immediately, I now realize that the enforced delay has given me an opportunity for learning and comparing the views of a great variety of persons, each familiar with one phase or another of Russian affairs. Here is a partial classification:

Russians of Bolshevist sympathy.

Russians of Czarist and democratic sympathy.

Germans from diplomatic circles, bankers, manufacturers, traders, economists, politicians.

Englishmen of about these same groups.

All Agreed on One Point

Certainly from that motley assortment I never could get any agreement as to the League of Nations, or the tariff, or the Irish situation, or the German indemnity, or the general strike, or Upper Silesia, or the American merchant marine, or any one of a thousand other subjects.

Yet the extraordinary fact is that everyone of them agreed on the essential phase of the Russian problem.

Everyone declared that, whatever the ultimate solution, the first thing to do is to establish trade relations as quickly as possible, which will tend to restore the production of Russian raw materials and thereby provide a medium of exchange by which the outside world can find a market for the goods with which the outside world is overstocked.

People who tremble lest trade resumption will aid the Communist propaganda may be interested in the position taken by a pronounced Czarist I met here, from whom I had really expected opposition to America's adoption of any traffic with the Soviets. Here, on the contrary, is his plea:

"By all means get the outside world to trade with Russia, for trade means life. If it helps one faction there, at least it will help others, and be quite sure that with a country starving to death, the first to die will not be the party in power. The way to kill off the inoffensive people is to permit the entry of so little that it will suffice only the people who control the government."

Foreign Markets

Anyone with a sardonic sense of humor may extract a little amusement out of my discovery—I think original—that on one point there is harmony between Czarist and Bolshevist.

I have always believed that our first duty to Russia, the world and ourselves is to get Russia's hands to working and her resources to buying, this program, at the same time, moving our wheat to foreign markets before it rots, changing our idle cotton into the money our banks so need, getting our factories to going full time and our industry to normal. I find Europe agreeing that Russian trade will help effect this for us and do good for the world at large.

The conviction seems to be growing among well-informed people that the present Russian government is not going to fall.

The nearer I draw to Russia the more am I impressed by the colossal nature of this task. It is too great to be met by individuals or by any nation acting alone. Russia's needs are as enormous as are her resources. Dealing with them must be on a tremendous scale—in terms of hundreds of shiploads, thousands of locomotives, millions of tons of supplies, billions of dollars. It must be the work of a great syndicate, preferably American, German, English and French; of banks, of manufacturers, of trading corporations, all at work under the helpful support of their several governments. World civilization is a stake for all the great nations to work for. Civilization ever follows trade, and Russia's problem is essentially a trade problem.

The syndicate is the tentative solution which at this time I suggest as the best. I am going into Russia to determine first hand whether my own observations support my present belief.
